Flu Spread Alerts Area Department

With the spread of the Asian flu epidemic in New York City, the Ulster County Health Department is alerted for any possible outbreak in this area because of its proximity to New York and the continual flow of traffic between the two sectors, it was reported today by Dr. Dudley W. Hargrave, county health commissioner.

The Associated Press reported today the Asian flu and its near relatives continued to spread across New York State.

Could Be Dangerous
Symptoms were described as mild, but health authorities warned complications could be dangerous.

Dr. Hargrave said the week-end would probably prove a better indication of any communication between New York City and this area of the epidemic.

Since there is "a continual flow of traffic between the two areas we'll be on the alert," he said.

No Cause for Alarm
Dr. Hargrave said he did not believe one reported case of "a respiratory illness" in any family was cause for alarm.

He urged residents to "smooth out coughs and sneezes," which are germ carriers, and to contact their physician in the event of any respiratory infection.

Spreads in State

ALBANY (AP)—Asian flu and its near relatives continued to spread across New York State today. Symptoms generally were mild but public health authorities warned that complications could be dangerous.

School authorities said that possibly 20 per cent of New York City's 940,000 pupils were absent or their schools were closed yesterday as a result of the epidemic.

Elsewhere in the state, outbreaks were sporadic but increasing. The State Health Department said there was no epidemic outside the city.

May Strike 800,000

The city health department said the epidemic was likely to last about a month and strike about 800,000 people, a tenth of the city's population.

Influenza of an undetermined type was reported to have played a part in the deaths of a 9-year-old girl in Brooklyn and a carpenter stricken aboard the British ship Britannica at sea.

Tests will be made to determine whether the girl, Carla Brown, had Asian flu. The carpenter, William (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Home Planning Is Included in KHS Adult Education

A new course, "Planning Your New Home," has been added to the Kingston adult education program, and registration for the course will take place Monday at 7 p. m. in Kingston High School.

This was announced today by Hubert Hoderath, director of adult education here, who gave a list of subjects selected for discussion in the course:

Architecture, kitchen planning, general contracting, heating and plumbing, wiring and lighting, landscaping, interior decorating, financing and legal advice. Additional subjects may be added if sufficient interest is shown, Hoderath said.

The new course is being offered because of a demand by prospective new home owners, Hoderath declared, for more information in this important undertaking.

Experts in the specific fields will conduct the course and answer questions at each session.

Polish Students Fight Police Over Paper Ban

WARSAW (AP)—Communist authorities today threatened "severe sanctions" against students who took part in Warsaw's first anti-government demonstration since Wladyslaw Gomułka came to power.

Police, Students Battle
Riot police backed by worker militia men battled about 2,000 students in a melee of tear gas, rubber truncheons and bricks last night outside the Warsaw Polytechnic School. The students were protesting suppression of their newspaper.

About 30 students were reported under arrest. Then police were injured by bricks rained down from windows of a student boarding house and by paving stones hurled in the streets. Several students were treated for effects of tear gas and bruises from truncheons.

Warning Given
All morning papers carried this warning to the students:

"It is understood the rector of Polytechnic has said severe sanctions will be taken against participants (in the demonstration), including expulsion from college."

The official account said the police had arrested "those who were the most aggressive."

The demonstration was the first break between the Communist party and its officially sponsored Union of Socialist Youth.

Surge for Freedom
Polytechnic students were in the forefront of the surge for freedom that produced the downfall of the Stalinist government and party hierarchy last year and the return of Gomułka to government leadership.

The trouble began when the students gathered to protest a government order closing their weekly anti-Stalinist paper.

Police marched shoulder to shoulder on the students. First fights broke out. The police attacked with truncheons and tear gas. The 2,000 students broke and ran.

Shout Gestapo
An hour later, about 500 students massed on the steps of a boarding house near Polytechnic.

"Gestapo, Gestapo," they shouted as the police approached. The police again laid down a tear gas barrage. The students fled into the boarding house.

Arrival of police reinforcements provoked another outburst of fighting and another gas attack by the police. By midnight, five hours after the first trouble broke out, quiet was restored.

Survey for Water Plan To Be Done in 10 Days

A survey for preparation of plans and estimates on emergency tapping of the Ashokan reservoir to meet the city's diminishing Cooper Lake supply began yesterday and should be completed in a week or 10 days, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent said today.

New York City's approval of the project will be sought as soon as plans are prepared and rights for use of a two-mile brook in the West Hurley-Zena area will be acquired.

Three Weeks for Project
After those steps, Cloonan said, it will take from two to three weeks to complete the project which will connect the lower basin of the Ashokan reservoir at West Hurley with the city's Reservoir No. 4 at Zena.

Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy was authorized by the water board at its regular October meeting last night to acquire rights for use of the stream. The board will meet again as soon as the engineers are ready to report on the survey.

To Survey Leakage
The board also authorized Bogert & Childs, of New York, its firm of consulting engineers to retain the Pitometer Associates, 30 Church Street, New York, to make a survey of the city's water lines to determine the extent of leakage.

Policy Is Hands Off On Tillson School Plans Up To Locality, State

The Tillson School is seeking the addition of six classrooms to its present school plant, it was disclosed at the regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Board of Education Thursday night at the local high school.

The State Education Department must approve the plans, however, before construction can proceed.

It was the feeling of the local board that, in view of the proposed Greater Kingston Area consolidation now pending, the application for additional rooms might be received with disfavor in Albany.

Classes Everywhere
Superintendent Earl Soper pointed out, however, that one classroom was meeting on the stage of the auditorium, that pupils were "everywhere"—even "in closets."

Crowded conditions are expected to be even worse next year, it was reported.

Kingston's interest in the Tillson situation is tied in with the proposed consolidation.

Takes No Position
It was the consensus of the local board that it should take no position in the matter, that it was a problem to be settled between Tillson and the State Education Department.

In case of consolidation, the Tillson school would probably become one of several elementary schools within the consolidated district.

The board approved the following requests to attend conferences: Mrs. Catherine Ellsworth, New York State School Food Association, Utica, Oct. 17-19; Miss Ruth Tongue and Mrs. Iva Case, New York State Association of Educational Secretaries, Oct. 4-5, Rochester; George Whitford, Attendance Conference, Albany, Nov. 12-14; and Mrs. Thelma Schwab, Citizenship Education Conference, Albany.

It also approved a salary increase of $200 for Mrs. Althea Odell who has been advanced to head of the Kingston High School art department.

Exchange Salary Set
The salary of Miss Mollie Cowen for 1957-58 was fixed at $4,500. Miss Cowen is an exchange teacher from England.

The board waived payment of tuition in 10 "hardship" cases. Contract for transportation of two physically handicapped children was awarded to Lipton for $450.

Sign on Loyalty
It was reported that each member of the teaching staff had signed the statement that he was not a member of a subversive organization, etc., as required by law.

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today issued a proclamation in behalf of Fire Prevention Week, which starts Oct. 6, and urged public cooperation in observing it.

The mayor called upon "all departments and agencies of the city government to participate actively in a campaign for improved fire safety. The fire department and the schools of our city can provide effective leadership in the activities of Fire Prevention Week, and I urge them to work with the Chamber of Commerce, and other organizations for a successful program."

The mayor said he earnestly requested "every citizen of the community to take part in relieving hazardous conditions and making our city a safe community in which to live and work."

State Colleges to Enroll Record 374,000 This Fall

ALBANY (AP)—Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. today predicted a record fall enrollment of more than 374,000 students in New York's colleges. It will be double that in 1970, he said.

Concerned with mushrooming enrollments, Allen asserted that "ways to meet this demand must be found, for higher education is a public right for all who can qualify."

In a statement marking the opening of most public and private institutions of higher learning, Allen appealed for the "increased interest and support" of all New Yorkers.

He urged voter approval next month of a proposed 250-million-dollar bond issue for State University construction.

Eighth Policeman Indicted, Gives Plea of Innocent

The Ulster County grand jury has indicted an eighth policeman in its sweeping burglary probe.

The jury handed up an indictment yesterday against suspended patrolman Benjamin Osterhoudt Jr., 30. He is charged with criminally receiving and retaining stolen property—a radio-phonograph allegedly belonging to Montgomery Ward Co. and taken from the New York Central freight depot here.

Osterhoudt, who resides at 48 Elmendorf Street, pleaded innocent. County Judge Louis G. Bruhn placed him under $1,000 bail. Attorney Aaron Klein is his counsel.

Osterhoudt appeared before the grand jury several weeks ago, signed a waiver of immunity and testified in the investigation which began last July. Later he was called again but refused to give additional testimony and was charged with contempt of court.

Yesterday, however, Osterhoudt gave further testimony. The indictment followed.

The April grand jury, which spent most of its time on the police probe, has been in session for 46 days, which is believed to be a record by newsmen who have covered the court house for a period of years.

Following yesterday's report, the jury was released by Judge Bruhn.

Li'l Abner Coming for City Kapers

Li'l Abner, long a favorite comic-strip character in the Kingston Daily Freeman, will come to Kingston on October 28 and 29—for the scholarship fund of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and starring in the annual Kiwanis Kapers.

The Dogpatch hero will be supported by such favorites as Daisy Mae, Lonesome Polecat, General Bullmoose, Evil-Eye Flegal, the Scragg Brothers, and Marvyn Sam. The scenes of the presentation take place in Kingston, Dogpatch, and points in between, with the annual Sadie Hawkins Day Race as the grand climax.

Strictly Local Version
George Silkworth, vice-president of Kiwanis in charge of the annual Kapers, explained that the 1957 version "will be strictly a Kiwanis version of the antics of the famed Li'l Abner."

Working with vice-president Silkworth is Donald MacIsaac of the local club. John McCullough has charge of the singing groups.

Li'l Abner and his cohorts will appear on the stage of Kingston High School on October 28 and 29. The cast will feature many prominent Kingston Kiwanians, including the initial appearances in the annual Kapers of newer members of the local service club.

Must Expand Crops
Harriman told the symposium that "we must conserve and expand" the state's production of fruits and vegetables. These crops last year had a cash value of 137 million, he said.

The experiment station has made a "notable contribution" to New York's economy, Harriman said in a prepared talk.

"Those who pioneered here at Geneva had no easy time of it," he remarked. "There were some farmers who did not immediately perceive the true purpose."

Many called it "a fraud" and "a humbug," he recalled.

Criticism Wrong
"We need only to enumerate some of the new varieties of fruits and vegetables that originated at Geneva to realize how shortsighted this criticism was," Harriman said.

The governor pointed out that among the new strains developed (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Criticism of Chief Is Scored by Police Assn.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren was praised as a faithful public servant in a statement adopted by the Kingston Patrolmen's Association at a special meeting last night and released today.

The statement hit at "unwarranted criticism" of the chief, apparently including that which touched on "leadership laxity" in a recent grand jury report, and it extended wholehearted KPA support to the department head.

Local Students First
He pointed out that "if we wish to accommodate rural students only when our local home-room facilities are available in keeping with better educational practice," certain outlying districts must be denied permission to send pupils to the local system.

The board reiterated its policy enunciated last spring that the educational needs of Kingston children must be served first. If admission of pupils from outlying districts on a tuition-paying basis jeopardizes the educational opportunities of local pupils those from the rural districts will be excluded under this policy.

To Serve Notice
President Robert Herzog pointed out that the board had agreed to give outlying districts affected by its plans a year's notice. The superintendent was directed to serve such notice on behalf of the board.

It was the feeling of board members that some of the rural schools might be "pinched" by such exclusion of its pupils but that Kingston had no alternative. If it is possible for the local system to absorb more pupils the outlying districts will be served as effectively as possible up to limits deemed feasible.

Soper said that a possible solution of the enrollment problem in 1958-59 would be for the board to continue its present policy in regard to seventh graders at Ulster No. 8 and Hurley No. 4. Seventh graders are now retained in those two school districts.

Other Problems
It would also be necessary, he said, to exclude Ulster No. 4 (Lake Katrine) with its 19 pupils and Ulster No. 7 (East Kingston) with its 13. These 32 students represent one room and roughly equal the 41 additional students expected in grade 7 for September 1958 at George Washington.

He pointed out that the transfer of one seventh grade section from GW to MJM would make it possible to accommodate all (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

As Proof Lacking
On Speed Charge

Robert Goldstein, 23, of 249 Broadway, booked on an "endangering speed" charge after a two-car accident at Broadway and Abel Street early today, was found not guilty after trial in city court.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino said evidence was insufficient to prove the violation for which he was held. Goldstein was arrested, after the car he drove, owned by Louis Goldstein, and the sedan of E. W. Kingsberg, Jr., 40, of 9 Elliott Street, collided as both were headed north on Broadway. The charge was lodged by Kingsberg.

It has been noted that the charge of endangering speed is under legal contest in the state. At least seven county judges have contested it as being vague and unconstitutional, and a high court decision is expected momentarily on it. Some feel that it is somewhere between speeding and reckless driving, but is far from being as definite as either.

Health for All

CATAPLEXY
Did your father ever give you that old line: "This hurts me worse than it does you," as the introduction to a good, old fashioned spanking? It might have been true—but probably not if you got the spanking.

Parents have, on occasion, suffered a sudden paralysis of the arm raised to strike a child. The condition is known as cataplexy, a temporary weakness or paralysis of voluntary movement caused by emotion. The brain sends inhibiting messages to the muscles to prevent an action which consciously or unconsciously it wants to stop.

Parents aren't the only people who have been stopped in their tracks by cataplexy. There is the case of the boxer suddenly unable to land the knockout punch, the hunter with his finger frozen on the trigger, the fisherman unable to reel in his catch. Even in such a quiet game as chess, the winning player has found himself unable to move his piece for the final play.

In such cases, the psychologist will look for some hidden feeling of guilt, shame or fear. The parent may feel guilty about his attitude toward the child he's about to strike. Cataplexy rarely happens when aggression is justified. Cataplexy rarely, if ever, strikes the losing player in a game. It seems to happen to the winner because he feels guilty about beating a competitor even in sport. He may not like to lose, but winning makes him even more uncomfortable because it satisfies unconscious hostile feelings of which he is ashamed.

Scout Leadership Training Course Held by Council

A training course for patrol leaders was held Saturday at George Washington School for patrol junior leaders.

Sixty-one patrol leaders from Greene and Ulster Counties attended. Included in the training was a new film just released on patrol methods, "The Right Way."

Course Highlight

One of the highlights of the course was the "Showing and Trying" session. Seven training areas operated on the county fair method, where each of the seven groups had 12 minutes at each area.

Training areas were as follows—Respects and Traditions of the American Flag by Mrs. Conrad J. Gross and Miss Isabel Herdman of the DAR. Compass and Maps by Richard Waltman, assistant district commissioner, Kingston. Be Observant by Kenneth B. Bock, Scoutmaster, Troop 4, Fair Street Reformed Church. Nature Lore by Thomas Fickus, Troop 8 committee man, First Presbyterian Church. Patrol Projects by E. Granberg, assistant scoutmaster and Jonathan Clark, scoutmaster of Troop 8 and the Schiff Scout Reservation junior leader training course story by junior leaders who attended this year.

Robert Tremper, Kingston assistant district commissioner, in addition, he led songs and gave pointers on how to lead songs. Tremper also handled the game instruction period in the afternoon.

Narrate Film Strips
Junior leaders who had attended the Schiff Scout Reservation junior leader training course had an important part in the training. The Explorer Scouts narrated the film strips and led in questions and answers which followed each strip.

Patrol leader film strips were shown by Oscar Kaelin, "So Now You Are A Patrol Leader"; Fred Sherman, "Hiking With Your Patrol"; Peter LeBeouf, "So You Are Going Camping"; Daniel Devine, "Advancement in Your Patrol"; and Jerry Sampson, "Patrol Leaders Council." Daniel Davidson assisted in the course and operated the film projector.

The leaders and Explorer Scouts were assisted in the training by Nelson L. Carter, field executive and Jerry Blair, Scout executive.

The Articles of Confederation did not provide for an executive head of the country.

Two Chairmen Named for '57 Girl Scout Funds Campaign

JOHN T. BURYCH
A quality control engineer at a local industrial plant and an insurance broker have been named as leaders in two phases of the campaign for funds to aid Girl Scouting in areas not served by the Kingston Area Community Chest.

They are John T. Burych of Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen plant, and Louis A. Suhrhoff, associated with the insurance firm of Herman Eaton, Inc.

Burych, quality control engineer for the explosives firm, will serve as co-chairman of the 1957 drive with Charles Gaffney, surrogate of Ulster County, who is chairman. Suhrhoff is publicity chairman.

Welcomed by Chairman

Chairman Gaffney said he was highly pleased that the two men will serve on the drive opening in nine Ulster County areas on October 23. The goal is $7,500; slogan: "You can Count on Her, Can She Count on You?"

Burych will help form procedures to be followed in Girl Scout neighborhoods, not in the Red Feather territory, in the drive for funds to help the Council which serves 2,040 girls between the ages of seven and 17 years.

Funds Urgently Needed

Mrs. Donovan H. Buehring, council president, said funds are urgently needed to provide the necessary training for volunteer leaders of new troops, to staff and furnish facilities for the local office and to help maintain Camp Wendy at Wallkill.

Theater Coming Down

LONDON — St. James theater is coming down, despite Vivien Leigh.

Huntington Hartford, an American millionaire and theater buff, offered 35,000 pounds ($98,000) for Sir Winston Churchill promised 500 pounds to save the venerable London playhouse for an office building. But C. W. Glossop, chairman of a group that tried to save the St. James, told a luncheon yesterday the fund fell short.

"It is naturally a bitter disappointment," said Miss Leigh, who paraded the London streets ringing a bell, made speeches and was ejected from the House of Lords for appealing from the visitors' gallery during a session.

Pilot Identified
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Lebanese International Airways announced today that Capt. Bernard T. Kuhlmer, 37, of Fort Madison, Iowa, was the pilot of the plane that plunged into the Mediterranean yesterday.

Kuhlmer and the 30 other persons aboard were killed. Airline officials refused to disclose the value of 15 boxes of gold the plane was carrying to the Kuwait government.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK — Steels, aircrafts, nonferrous metals and oils took losses as the stock market declined in quiet trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks dropped from fractions to around 2 points. The market was mixed at the opening but was unable to continue the rallying tendencies which rescued the list from a decline near yesterday's close.

Aircraft shares continued to reflect gloom in the industry over prospects for new financing in view of the government's announced policy to limit monthly payments to aircraft and missile contractors.

Government action freeing 135 million additional pounds of nickel for non-defense industry adversely affected prices of stocks in that field.

gently, faithfully and honestly. His record has always been without question.

"During his lifetime career of service as a police officer, he attained his present position as chief, only after having served in every capacity of police service, coming up through the ranks with honor."

"This association, as a body, wholeheartedly supports and respects Chief Ray, Van Buren, and hopes to see him remain in his present capacity for the good of the Police Department, and the people of the City of Kingston for as long as he so desires."

Four Points in Effect

The police board, in a statement released today through Mayor Frederick H. Stang, said the grand jury report was "received and studied carefully," and noted that "several of the recommendations had been put into effect before said report was received." They are:

1. Frequent inspection of men on duty.

2. Thorough investigation of all prospective candidates and personal interview of all candidates by the entire board.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television is about to receive the John Houseman "surprise" treatment.

"With surprise we hope to attract and hold a vast audience," says the executive producer of the big new "Seven Lively Arts" project that unveils over CBS-TV on Sunday, Nov. 3.

Houseman, a veteran showman of stage and screen making his first major sortie on TV with the hour series, regards himself as a "man of maverick, screwball productions."

"One thing I know," he declares firmly. "Our first show will cause an outburst."

The topic of the initial telecast is "Changing Ways of Love," a three-decade survey of romance in America. Humorist S. J. Perelman has written the script and Piper Laurie is to be the feminine lead of the study.

The free-wheeling, unpredictable spirit of the entire "Seven Lively Arts" scheme is displayed in the first show, Houseman adds. Deliberately shunning format (each program in the series will have a different director to assure variety), Houseman feels that "the virtue and the danger of the project is that it will sweep across all so-called audience segments." Each program will be devoted to some unified discussion—or assault—on a topic that falls loosely within the show's title.

Houseman stresses that the big word to him in the enterprise is "lively."

Jazz Next on List

"We are unlikely to treat a theme unless it is in the current of contemporary culture and life." The second Houseman program will concern the phenomenon of American jazz—"a great, huge jam session," he calls it.

After that will come a study of Hollywood's current world wide film-making craze, an intensive picture portrait of New York City in off guard moments, an examination of evangelism, and perhaps a program on sports greats.

No man to be confined by a definition of art, Houseman explains: "we're not averse to going a little afield if it makes a good show."

Saugerties Teachers Parley Hears Educators

SAUGERTIES — "Today we are competing with a foe that is, for the first time in our history, numerically stronger than we. The only way we can survive is through our minds. Every child has the patriotic duty to make the most of his talents." These words were delivered by Dr. C. W. Hunnicutt, one of the two speakers at the in-service training day program for faculty members of Saugerties Central Schools held Monday.

All members of the teaching force of the Saugerties Central Schools assembled in the high school auditorium of the Main Street School at 8:45 p. m. to begin a study of the theme for the day, "Sharpening the Tools of Communication."

Two consultants had been secured to work with the teachers on this important topic. They were Dr. Anthony D. Torino, chief of the Bureau of Secondary Supervision, of the State Education Department at Albany; and Dr. Hunnicutt, professor of education at Syracuse University, the author of several textbooks and research studies.

The morning was given over to addresses by the two consultants. It was followed by a meeting of the Saugerties Teachers Association.

In the afternoon the faculty broke up into four discussion groups to consider implementing the suggestions made by the speakers during the morning sessions. The two speakers went from one to another of these discussion groups and helped answer questions.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 4, 1957

LITTLE ROCK AFTERMATH

The American political scene seems bound to be materially affected in 1958 and 1960 by the turbulent events at Little Rock this fall.

These events will alter a picture already in continuous shifting population and such special factors as 1957's discrediting disclosures in the field of organized labor.

Most observers feel that the forceful line taken by President Eisenhower in the Little Rock controversy will severely handicap any effort of the Republicans to build a real flux as result of a swelling, changing economy, a growing, party in the South in the years just ahead.

Mr. Eisenhower's own deep election inroads in the South, especially in 1956, had encouraged some to feel that now was the time to toil for a genuine two-party system there. That prospect probably has vanished now.

To the extent that Negroes participate more heavily in future elections, some GOP gain might follow.

But the belief is that this will be more than offset by major defections from among those who voted for the President last year.

On the other hand, the political experts think Republicans in northern and western states will pick up additional Negro support which could be crucial in certain populous areas where Negroes appear to hold the balance of voting power.

California, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania and New York fall in this category.

Obviously, northern Democrats in competing for these northern and western votes will likely feel compelled to press for strong civil rights programs. The balance in some of these areas may already have shifted against them because of the population flight to the conservative suburbs. They will not be inclined to take the risk of further big losses.

To urge strong civil rights projects, however, will be to put these Democrats at distinct odds, with their conservative Southern colleagues. Party unity, shrewdly promoted this year by Sen Lyndon Johnson of Texas in the civil rights struggle in Congress, may be sorely strained.

Signs already exist that a new civil rights battle may develop in Congress in 1958. Beyond question, the effort to find common North-South ground in a 1960 Democratic platform will be made far more difficult by the sharpened differences growing out of Little Rock.

Which party will gain or lose the most in consequence of this controversy no sensible man would try now to forecast.

It is clear only that the coalitions of voters in the North and South which produced the presidential outcome of 1956 will not exist in 1958 and 1960. Big change is in the air.

PRICE OF 'SUCCESS'

What's the matter with most successful American businessmen? Worry. They may seem to have made a complete "go" of everything, but they still worry. This is shown in a study, conducted by American Management Survey, of 335 presidents of both large and small companies in big and small towns in 40 states.

Almost without exception, these topnotch executives were worry warts. The composite photograph of Mr. Success shows him making between $65,000 and $70,000 a year. He is 50 years old, married but doesn't have much time to spend with his family. He owns two cars, two houses (one in the country), buys two or three new suits a year, prefers martinis and scotch for his liquor, plays golf. And worries.

What does he worry about? Almost everything. He worries about his associates and his possible successor. He worries about his daily relationships with people, his lack of tact and patience. He worries about his

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
FORCES AND EVENTS

Events are numerous and attract widespread attention even if the particular event amounts to nothing more than a ball-team shifting its habitat or a movie-star divorcing her sixth husband. The forces that move men and women in each historic era are not always visible or definable but many of them are so powerful that they make for war or revolution or vast changes in culture.

The quest for human dignity is eternal and appears among all human beings. It is incorporated in the three great Semitic religions, Judaism, Christianity and Islam. Associated with the concept of human dignity is the ideal, incorporated in the American Declaration of Independence, of equal rights which has been translated as meaning equal rights under the law but not egalite as conceived in the French Revolution.

The Little Rock event brings this particular question again to the fore in American affairs. For what Little Rock asks is whether a Negro can be equated as equal under the law and with identical rights and privileges as a white person in the State of Arkansas. The United States Constitution makes it so by the 14th and 15th Amendments; the Supreme Court has made it so by the School Integration Decision. But these are political means; will recognition be achieved by social means?

Senator Herman Talmadge of Georgia set forth a Southern reaction to this question in remarks before the United States Senate dealing with the question of equal civil rights. The main burden of his theme is that this measure moves away from each individual human being standing alone and in personal dignity, equal to all other individuals, in the eyes of the law and in the bosom of God, and substituting for the individual, a group, a minority group to which is given special privileges and special protections.

Senator Talmadge says: "When Congress undertakes to enact laws giving special rights to minorities which are denied to the majority, then constitutional safeguards of all the people become meaningless.

"When Congress jeopardizes individual rights and transfers or creates rights in a special group or class, it is treading on dangerous ground.

"The rights of every American citizen—whatever his color, extraction or national origin—are threatened by this bill.

"That is true whether he be a Nisei farmer on the West Coast, a colored steelworker in Toledo, a Catholic fisherman in New Zealand, a Mexican rancher in Texas or a Jewish rabbi in Brooklyn."

The relationship of State to Federal government is the essence of this problem. During the Roosevelt Administration the Federal Government grew in power first because of the Depression and then because of the war. It taxed the people of each state but returned to the State government a share of the taxes for special purposes, thus developing a measure of control over agencies and activities of government heretofore regarded as the special province of states. For many years, this process was accepted as correct, although it threw into each state a murrain of Federal officials whose salaries and upkeep increased the burden of taxes for the whole American people. It was hoped that when Eisenhower became President, there would be some relief from this process of costly centralization. There has been no relief.

The events in Arkansas then raise two issues: one the Negro question which some thought had been solved 92 years ago by the Civil War; the other the fundamental constitutional question of the relationship of the Federal Government to the states. By sending Federal troops into Little Rock, President Eisenhower has committed an act the constitutionality of which will be questioned even in states where there is agreement with him on his views concerning Negro integration. Under which provision of the Constitution were these troops sent into Arkansas? Is the United States at war with the State of Arkansas? Had Congress declared such a war? Is Arkansas in a state of rebellion? These are questions which will not be ignored. They transcend the Little Rock high school and Governor Orval Faubus. They even transcend Attorney General Herbert Brownell and President Eisenhower.

In a word, these are questions upon which hang the future political and social structure of this country. To summarize the issue, perhaps to oversimplify it, it is: shall we become a nationalized, centralized state or remain a Federal union as the Constitution provides?

Measles Often Taken Too

Lightly by Many Parents

BY EDWIN F. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

It seems to me that measles in childhood is more often taken too lightly than any of the other contagious diseases.

Although it is true that most youngsters have measles and recover without difficulty, it can produce serious complications. Although it is nice to have a life-long immunity because one has had it early, parents should take care if their children acquire it.

Measles is caused by a virus. Once in a while this virus attacks the nervous system. It also weakens the body so that broncho-pneumonia or bronchitis may set in. This, too, often results in serious difficulties with the lungs. The ears also may be affected.

BED REST until the acute stage of the disease is over should be enforced. Many of the serious complications come from letting the victim out of bed too early. Plenty of fluids and easily digested foods should be given.

The eyes are sensitive to light, so that reading and eye strain should be avoided. Often it is well to have the shades in the sick room partially drawn. Tepid baths are helpful in preventing itching and in soothing the skin. Constipation is common and should be prevented.

THE FIRST symptoms of measles develop about two weeks after exposure.

The diagnosis of measles is not easy at first. During the time when there is a lot of measles in a community, youngsters who develop symptoms of a slight cold with fever should be kept at home and away from their playmates.

THE FEVER is slight at first, but goes up gradually. A dry cough is likely to be present and this tends to become gradually worse. The rash which follows in a few days usually comes first on the forehead and behind the ears. From here it spreads rapidly over the neck, trunk, and down the limbs. It is usually fully developed in two or three days. Fading of the rash starts in another two or three days.

Those who are exposed to measles can be prevented from developing a severe attack by an injection of gamma globulin. Antibiotics may be helpful to prevent or treat some of the common complications.

retirement—and what he will do then.

This is not a pleasant picture. It may go far to explain why high blood pressure, heart disease, and nervous breakdown take such a tragic toll in American industry. It is too bad that there isn't some magic formula whereby our successful men could "relax and enjoy it." But worrying may be the price of this kind of success.

"Cease and Desist"—President Eisenhower

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Outgoing Secretary of Defense Charlie Wilson was telling friends at a recent cocktail party that it would feel good to relax.

When he had finished describing the beauties of just being lazy for a while, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said: "I know how you feel Charlie. But when you get out of the depression chamber and the pressure is off do you think you'll have the bends?"

ANOTHER SONG has been added to the political jukebox.

This one was written by Pennsylvania's veteran Democratic National Committeewoman Emma Guffey Miller and is sung to the tune of "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?"

It's based on Harry Truman's comment, "I wonder who's living there now?" which he made when passing the White House soon after Ike was first elected president.

Here are the words:

"I wonder who's living there now?"

"I wonder who's telling Ike how?"

"I wonder who's counting Ike's golfing score?"

"Counting more? Yelling, 'Fore!'"

"I wonder who's getting the breaks?"

"The boys who eat porterhouse steaks?"

"I wonder if he still likes GOP?"

"I wonder who's running things now?"

But what his constituents actually hear when the colorful senator mounts the speaker's platform is the completion of a gigantic jigsaw puzzle.

A friend reveals that Mansfield writes his speeches at the same time he's answering his mail or working on a multitude of other political projects. Whenever a good, strong sentence pops into his mind, he stops what he's doing and jots it down on a scrap of paper. If he gets an idea that takes up several paragraphs, he calls in his secretary and starts dictating.

After his staff has gone home in the evening, the senator gathers up all the tiny pieces of paper and his secretary's notes. Then he puts everything together in perfect order so the secretary can type the completed speech the next day.

UNDERSECRETARY of the Air Force Malcolm A. McIntyre was surprised at a luncheon the other day by the big build-up given him just before he made a speech.

The master of ceremonies praised McIntyre for 15 minutes in glowing terms the like of which haven't been heard since the Democrats and Republicans held their national conventions.

After he had finished, McIntyre said, "That introduction reminds me of chewing tobacco. You chew it and savor it, but don't swallow it."

THE CROWDED Washington parking problem doesn't bother the German embassy staff one bit.

They drive Volkswagens. The tiny German-made autos have become almost standard equipment for the Bonn diplomats. Practically all the military attaches drive them. And every morning you can usually see members of the press, economic and clerical sections, calmly wheeling into a parking space that doesn't look big enough for a tri-cycle.

But at the same time their boss, Ambassador Heinz L. Krehbiel, has a harder time finding a parking place than anyone else in town.

He drives a gigantic Mercedes 300.

CAPT. BEHZAT CAKICI, the new Turkish naval attaché, is the most particular house hunter to arrive in Washington for some time.

So far, he has turned down several beautiful homes with exceptionally reasonable price tags. The trouble is that none of them has a big enough garden.

Captain Cakici's favorite hobby is raising flowers. And right now his pet project is developing a new breed of Turkish tulips.

Other day he told a friend that he believes the new tulip will turn out to be one of the world's most beautiful flowers. He wants to be able to grow as many as he possibly can.

THE WORLD BANK'S annual meeting here turned Washington's Embassy Row on Massachusetts Avenue into something like a mining town Main Street on payday Saturday night, with the saloons offering free drinks on almost every corner.

Half a dozen countries threw parties for their visiting finance ministers. About the same guests were invited to every party. So they just circulated from one bar to the next.

For hours there was a steady stream from the Egyptian to the Philippine embassies, which are right next door.

Across Sheridan Circle the Korean embassy had the welcome mat out.

Traffic was all fouled up. Further up the pike, the Japanese and South Africans held wine-dings, but they weren't quite so crowded. The reason seemed to be that many of the guests found the food and booze so good at the first three parties that they didn't bother to hit numbers four and five.

But the next night the World Bank itself threw its annual reception at Anderson House and invited everybody there. Guests were lined up for half a block waiting to get in.

U.S. Troops in Little Rock Called a Violation of Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Many lawyers are writing to this correspondent from all parts of the country asking when President Eisenhower and the commanding general of the United States Army at Little Rock are going to uphold "the supreme law of the land" and cease violating a specific statute passed by Congress which forbids the use of federal troops to enforce court orders.

The law in question—known as the "posse comitatus act"—was originally passed in 1878 but was restated and recodified by Congress on Aug. 10, 1956, and now reads as follows:

"Whoever, except in cases and circumstances expressly authorized by the Constitution or act of Congress, wilfully uses any part of the Army or the Air Force as a posse comitatus or otherwise to execute the laws shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than two years, or both. This section does not apply to Alaska."

Intent of the Law

Originally this law, as passed in 1878, contained a reference only to the Army. But in 1956, when all Federal laws were recodified to eliminate surplus language and to bring the phraseology up to date, the words "Air Force" were included.

As one lawyer, now retired from a legal branch of the armed services, writes: "Obviously the only reason for this statute and its predecessor is to insure the people against the use of troops to enforce a court order; otherwise, the law has no meaning whatsoever."

There is, of course, no act of Congress which has "expressly authorized" the use of Federal troops to enforce a court order. The three sections of Federal law, which were cited by President Eisenhower in his proclamation ordering Federal troops into Arkansas have been restricted by the above-quoted "posse comitatus act."

Ways to Enforce Laws

There is, moreover, no provision in the Constitution by which the use of troops to enforce court orders is expressly authorized. The Constitution says the President "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed," but it does not say he can use any means he pleases. The statutes specify the means whereby marshals and the thousands of citizens who may be deputized to act as assistant marshals can enforce the laws of the United States. This is what is known as a "posse comitatus" engaged in "civil process."

There are those who argue that, since the Constitution itself mentions "the supreme law of the land," the President may take any means he wishes to enforce any law. Here, however, is exactly what the Constitution says:

"This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land."

Nothing is said to the effect that decisions of the Supreme Court or orders or mandates of the courts interpreting the Constitution are "the supreme law of the land." As one eminent lawyer writes:

"No Federal or state court of record in America has ever held that a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States or that of any other Federal court is 'the law of the land.'"

"Each decision is never anything more than the law of the case actually decided by the court and binding only upon the parties to that case and no others."

Court History Cited

This is why the late Charles Warren, himself an Assistant Attorney General and regarded as the nation's most noted historian in the field of the judiciary, says in his monumental "History of the Supreme Court of the United States," page 748, Volume II:

"However the court may interpret the provisions of the Constitution it is still the Constitution which is the law and not the decision of the court."

Only Congress, therefore, can pass any law that becomes truly "the law of the land." Only Congress can authorize the use of Federal troops to enforce a law. Only the people themselves can amend the Constitution.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The connection between Dave Dubinsky's union and crooks whom he has been berating as betrayers of labor, is so plain that the Senate committee's own gall in excluding Dubinsky from the search-examination used on Beck, Hoffa, Dio and Doria is as brazen as anything thus far exposed.

The committee has not dared to treat Dubinsky as it dealt with the others. He is a privileged character.

In one respect, Dubinsky's union is as bad as the Teamsters and the now discredited United Auto Workers of the AF of L. There was a straight connection between Dubinsky's national headquarters in New York where he occupies an office built for Henry Ford Sr., and the headquarters of the UAW in Milwaukee.

A few months ago, Dubinsky threw out of his union Sam Berger, who was president of a freak local of truckdrivers and helpers known as Local 102 of the Garment Workers. They transported finished and unfinished garments from factory to factory.

Dubinsky should have known the worst about Berger for years. He had hired a New York lawyer and professional investigator to investigate Berger and establish Berger's associations with Johnny Dio, Tony Doria and other ugly parasites. He was reasonably sure that Berger was consorting and cooperating with these people and others like them, but he wanted to nail down proof in the professional manner. Accordingly he hired a young attorney with "connections" in the district attorney's office and the police department and announced his move in The New York Times.

It seemed almost as though Dubinsky wanted to put Berger on warning so he could mend his ways. But Berger did not change so, at last, a few months ago, after the lawyer's report had lain on his desk for more than two years, Dubinsky hit upon a subterfuge to throw Berger out. He waited until Berger "took the Fifth" against self-incrimination. Then, and only on that ground, Dubinsky tossed him.

The idea that Dubinsky did not know the truth about Dio and Doria long ago is incredible. He spent his members' earnings for a first-class report on Berger's relations with the man who was accused of hiring thugs to blind his intimate friend, Victor Riesel, the labor columnist, and let the information go to waste until Berger's resort to "the Fifth" put him on the spot. Dubinsky had noisily declared that recourse to the Fifth was the cardinal sin of the union racket. So when his man Berger "took the Fifth," Dubinsky had to act or invite insinuations.

In November, 1953—four years ago—Paul Dorfman, a notorious Chicago racketeer of the Junk-

Dealers' and Rag-Pickers' Union, testified before Congressman Wint Smith's special subcommittee on Education and Labor. This body is famously identified with little Clare Hoffman, the fly-weight Michigan Congressman who did more in any one week than the precocious Kennedy brats have done in all their ballyhooed career. It was then holding sittings in Detroit.

Dorfman had muscled into this junk union and there was a record in the police department of two casual routine murders incidental to the descent of authority from earlier hoodlums down to Dorfman.

In the Detroit hearings Dorfman said: "I was in New York and a good friend of mine, Sam Berger of the garment workers, asked me if I knew Tony Doria, secretary-treasurer of the Auto Workers, AFL. I said 'yes, Doria worked around Chicago.' He said 'would you set up a date that I could meet Doria?' Berger came to Chicago and we went to Milwaukee. We went up to the UAW headquarters and I introduced Mr. Berger to Doria."

The next day I got a charter for 102, UAW. All I did was make the introduction."

"Do you know Johnny Dio?" Dorfman did and he said 102 was Dio's own local of the UAW. So, four years ago, Dubinsky had free access to famous testimony that his own man Sam Berger was in a deal with Dio-guard and Doria. And at least two years ago, Dubinsky had from his own investigator showing Berger's relations with Dio, but did nothing about it.

A few weeks ago, confronted with a sworn charge by a former international president of the UAW, Dubinsky excitedly denied that Dio had worked for his union as "organizer" in Roanoke, Va., in 1950. Dubinsky insisted on oath that he had tried to throw Dio out of the "labor movement." But the record stands that his own henchman, Berger, was Dio's henchman but still was tolerated in office under Dubinsky's gaze with full powers until the summer of 1957.

On top of all this the fact lies dormant and ignored by the Senate committee that Dubinsky heroized and offered an official reward of $25,000 for the conviction of the murderer of William Lurie, a habitual criminal with one life term among other sentences, who was killed in New York after letting hot cargo shift through a Dubinsky picket line. Dubinsky tried to deny that Lurie was his picket. But his own official publication disposed of that with lavish evidence of a racketeer who double-crossed the Garment Workers' Union.

Crusade in Philadelphia Whites, Negroes Join Forces to Aid Victims Of Teen-Age Violence

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Side-by-side campaigns to help the victims of teen-age violence and to ride the city of racial bitterness gathered force today.

Public agencies and aroused individuals, white and Negro alike, joined in an expressed determination to end "these senseless fights before more young people are hurt."

The quoted words are those of Mrs. Clara Baldwin, a Negro in her late 40s with a family of her own and a strong sense of social responsibility.

Cheered on by Groups

Mrs. Baldwin, cheered on by city officials and welfare groups, earlier this week started canvassing her North Philadelphia neighborhood to raise money for the family of Billy Fluck, 15-year-old white boy, who was stabbed in an attack upon him by several Negro youths.

The boy's spinal column was all but severed by a knife, causing paralysis of both legs. Doctors fear he may never walk again.

Living only a few blocks from the Flucks, Mrs. Baldwin said she and her husband, Thomas, were horrified by what had happened. They resolved to do something.

In less than three days the Baldwin family had more than 100 volunteer solicitors, most of them Negroes.

About 35 canvassers gathered in the Baldwin home last night and reckoned up about $100 in contributions. Approximately the same amount was raised the night before.

Gave All—36 Cents

Mrs. Baldwin said one young Negro housewife contributed all she had—36 cents. One volunteer is an elderly blind woman, who goes from door to door, led by a friend.

Capt. Harry Fox, head of the police department's juvenile aid bureau, described Mrs. Baldwin's activities as an outstanding example of how racial tension can be lessened when level heads take over.

Coty Bids Mollet Form New Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty today asked socialist Guy Mollet to form the next government of France.

Mollet neither accepted nor refused. He said he would examine the possibilities of forming a government and promised to give his answer within a few days.

Mollet told reporters he was "rather skeptical" about his chances of forming a cabinet.

"No new element has appeared since I was thrown out of office some months ago," he said. But he said Coty had insisted, and he would try.

Political observers had predicted Mollet would get the nod to succeed Maurice Bourges-Maunoury, who resigned this week after the National Assembly rejected his move to end the Algerian rebellion by giving the North African territory limited home rule.

These same observers predicted also that Mollet would refuse Coty's offer, and that the president's choice then would be either Rene Pleven or Robert Schuman. Both are moderates, advocates of a united Europe and two-time premiers.

Mollet was premier of France for 15 months—a French postwar record—before giving way to Bourges-Maunoury last June.

Soldiers Have No Trouble Today At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An escort of soldiers encountered no trouble in taking nine Negro students into Central High School for a 10th day of integrated classes.

About 100 white students were massed before the front entrance of the school. Three or four of them displayed small Confederate flags but there was none of the hooting nor jeering that marked the last two days.

All Negroes Present

All the Negroes were present today. Yesterday one of the six Negro girls was absent because of illness.

Sixteen rifle-carrying National Guardsmen escorted the Negroes halfway across the campus. There four regular army paratroopers met the Negroes and took them the rest of the way into the school.

There was no sign of the 75 white students who walked out of Central High yesterday in what was scheduled as a mass demonstration but turned out to be a flop. They were either absent today or else insisted on making their peace with school officials, who had threatened them all with suspension.

Still Deadlocked

Ongoing sides were still deadlocked today in their efforts to solve the integration crisis. No one had come up with a new plan under which federal troops might be removed.

Niagara Hearings Put Off Until Monday, Oct. 14

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission today prepared for a recess in its extensive hearings on whether to authorize a conduit system or tunnels to divert water from the Niagara river to the proposed 600-million-dollar Niagara power project.

Examiner William J. Costello said that after today's sessions will not be resumed until Monday, Oct. 14. Cross-examination of witnesses produced by the New York State Power Authority will begin then. William S. Chapin, general manager and secretary of the authority, was on the stand for a second day as Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, authority special counsel, approached the end of his list of witnesses scheduled for direct testimony. William Latham, resident engineer for the authority at Niagara Falls, also was to testify.

Reserves Decision

Costello reserved decision on whether to hold further hearings at Buffalo or Niagara Falls before sessions are resumed here.

Through four day-long sessions here this week, authority officials have defended their position that covered conduits in the city of Niagara Falls, joined with an open canal system outside the city, provide the most practical way of getting the river water to a large storage reservoir and powerhouse. Municipal officials have challenged this stand and favor construction of deep tunnels.

The proposal that hearings be held in the Niagara Falls area was made by Clarence W. Greenwald, corporation counsel for the City. These sessions would concern disruption of business and other activities in Niagara Falls if the conduit proposal is followed and construction begins.

To Discuss Plans

Yesterday's session concerned somewhat the same subject. Greenwald expressed doubt that the authority would restore and landscape the area in which construction would be carried on. Chapin, in the witness stand, would be done.

"Our plans certainly will be discussed with the people of Niagara Falls," Chapin added. "We will not do anything they do not want done."

Crowded Junior U. S. Flu Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Asian flu cases nearly doubled again last week, going up by an estimated 200,000 new cases to make a total of 422,650 since early June.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service said the estimates were based on incomplete reports. The reports cover the period only through last Saturday. Thus, they do not include outbreaks this week such as 150,000 new cases among New York City school children.

Buffalo Court Worker Denies Communist Ties

BUFFALO (AP)—A city court clerk, called a former communist before a House subcommittee on un-American activities, has denied the charge strongly.

The subcommittee winds up four days of hearings today. Thirty-four witnesses have testified so far.

The clerk, Miss Helen Mintz, heard Lloyd Kinsey, former chairman of the Communist party in Erie County, make the accusation yesterday.

She answered: "This man is either lying or mistaken."

Seen at Meetings

Kinsey testified that he had met her at least three times at communist party meetings in her apartment.

Testimony from other witnesses ranged from descriptions of communist activity in Buffalo by admitted former communists to refusals to state anything beyond name and occupation. Many invoked the First and Fifth Amendments in declining to answer questions.

The committee is investigating possible communist infiltration into heavy industry in the Buffalo area. Reps. Gordon Scherer (Ohio) and Edwin E. Willis (D-La.) are presiding.

Scherer noted that at least one pattern has emerged from the testimony.

He said that several witnesses denied present membership in the communist party, but declined to answer whether they were members two months ago or earlier.

"This is the first time," he said, "we have had wholesale resignations (by party members) within a few weeks prior to the hearings."

Act Against Pair

In another development about 100 employees at the Tube Manifold Corp. in nearby North Tonawanda staged a walkout and demonstration against two co-workers who testified that they had resigned from the communist party.

The employees, all members of the United Auto Workers, agreed after a two-hour meeting to return to work today. A union leader urged them to do so.

The two workers who admitted former communist party membership are Sidney Turoff of suburban Kenmore and Sydney Ingerman of Buffalo.

Survey for for use when the city cleans its water lines. In the past the street was torn up each time the lines were cleaned.

Other bidders were James Berardi, of Kingston, $13,390, and Anthony Costanzi, also of the city, $14,900.

It was the second time the board opened bids on the project. The first were rejected because of high estimates.

Cloonan said today that the department will start, in a week or 10 days, cleaning the water line between the filter plant in the Zena area and the equalizing reservoir at Sawkill. Cleaning of the lines from Sawkill to the city and in the city will not be done until spring.

Won't Lose Pressure

Cleaning of the line above the city, Cloonan said, will help avoid loss of pressure when the city starts using the proposed emergency supply.

As much water as possible will be retained in Cooper Lake when the emergency system is in use, he said. This will give the city better supply and pressure in the event of a fire or similar emergency, which would require extra heavy usage of water. Cooper Lake now has less than 400,000 gallons of water, he noted earlier this week.

It is planned to draw water from the Ashokan by pumping it into the two-mile brook at a point south of the West Hurley railroad station. If the open brook cannot be used a pipeline will be laid.

Campaign Advice Given on Voting

During a program here Thursday aimed at promoting registration and voting, a speaker said the first need is to encourage individuals to take part in politics.

Dr. Alfred B. Rollins Jr. of the teaching staff at New Paltz State Teachers College gave this advice to those who attended the program sponsored by the public affairs committee at the YWCA.

Getting out the vote is essential, he said, and stressed that first voters should be impressed with their responsibility to take a part in government.

Lasting Impression

Once they start voting they will not be likely to ignore going to the polls in the future, he advised.

Candidates should realize that much of their success depends on personal contact with voters was his advice.

If there is to be government by the people, voters must be informed on what candidates stand for and to understand propositions listed on voting machines.

A special film was screened stressing the importance of voting and a playlet "Primary Day" was staged by the Coach House Players, adding a touch of humor as it conveyed the message.

Dick McCarthy of ceremonies for the program which included choral selections by teenagers: Judy Krom, Carol Haulenbeck, Linn Carl, Brenda Bareika, Penny Johnson, Susan Umpleby, Jackie Rethier and Louise Goodyear. Mrs. William Rylance was director. Roger Baer Studios loaned the organ.

Michener Among Those Rescued As Plane Ditches

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C47 with 13 persons aboard, including author James A. Michener, ditched in the ocean three miles north of Iowa Jima today.

The Air Force said all aboard were rescued by boats, unhurt.

Air Force headquarters in Tokyo said the aircraft went down shortly after taking off for Japan.

The cause of the ditching was not known but an investigation was opened.

Michener is the author of a number of best sellers, including Tales of the South Pacific, Return to Paradise, Voice of Asia, Sayonara, and Bridges of Toko Ri. The far east is his special field.

Michener had been in Guam for two weeks doing research for a magazine article on the Strategic Air Command.

Flu Spread

Dodds, 42, will be buried at sea.

Schools Close

Public schools were closed yesterday in at least five Upstate communities—Bath, Steuben County; Sylvan Beach-Vernon Beach, Oneida County; Port Byron, Cayuga County; and Palmyra-Macedon and Lyons, Wayne County.

The Camden Central school system, near Rome, was closed today because of a flu-like illness. More than 200 of the 2,150 pupils were out yesterday, plus several teachers and the principal.

360 Cases Confirmed

Upstate, 360 cases have been confirmed as Asian flu. The tests of blood samples and throat washings take several weeks and only a portion of the possible cases are tested. Ten cases reported as confirmed yesterday had broken out in the Ikler migrant farm labor camp in Wyoming County in August.

In its first report covering an industrial plant, the Health Department said the Harold Radio and Electric Corp. of Mount Vernon had informed the department that 104 of 700 employees were absent Oct. 1 and that Asian flu was suspected. Normal absenteeism was about 25, the company said.

State Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe said the epidemic was potentially dangerous because of the possibility of pneumonia and other complications.

AEC Predicts

The governor said he had hoped that bids for the new two-million-dollar food processing research building here would be advertised by Sept. 1. He said last minute revisions in the plans had forced a postponement to December.

Boy, 9, Grandmother Murder, Suicide

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 9-year-old boy who had been missing since Wednesday was found shot to death in an abandoned house last night. Lying dead next to him was his crippled grandmother, who loved and wanted him as her own.

Police said she apparently killed him, then took her own life.

Young Ronald Barrett White was found lying in an upstairs bedroom of the deserted house with a bullet in his back. The grandmother, Mrs. Allene Durston, 58, had a bullet wound in her head. Police said a pistol was clutched in her hand.

The boy's father, Thomas M. White of suburban Reseda, said Mrs. Durston had taken care of Ronald in his early years and was "all wrapped up in the boy."

This was the second time in a little more than two months, police said, that Mrs. Durston had spited the boy away. On July 24, they said, she left a note saying she was "taking the boy for my own" and going on a trip with him to Mexico and Colorado. The note said she was suffering from cancer of the hip and didn't have long to live.

She was stopped on that occasion. No charges were pressed.

Report Two Clues May Lead to Cause of Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Researchers at the University of California virus laboratory say two clues—one involving the mutation of cells—might possibly lead them to the cause of cancer.

The search centers on the mutation of cells of the womb sac that surrounds the unborn infant and in tiny particles that appear spontaneously in various malignant cells.

Nobel Prize-winner Wendell Stanley and Dr. Robley Williams revealed the leads for the first time yesterday in a report to the California division of the American Cancer Society. The society supports their work.

Dr. Stanley said the sac tissues readily grew in test tubes.

As reproduction continues, he explained, parts are placed in other test tubes and they form the nuclei for further independent colonies.

Dr. Stanley and his colleagues found the cells, after several generations, were not identical with those of the parent tissue. They had doubled the number of their chromosomes—the genetic sections, that establish hereditary traits.

More important, he continued, they found the mutated cells, when injected into laboratory animals, caused cancer. Injection of the original cells, taken directly from a mother at birth, caused no cancer.

Dr. Stanley said this phase of the search now seeks the exact moment when the cells become cancer-causing. If the point of change or mutation can be determined, he explained, the microscopic and chemical tests may show how a human or animal cell suddenly turns cancerous.

Plane Is Sought

BOSTON (AP)—Planes from four states today were searching for an army plane reported missing on a flight from Governors Island, N. Y., to Burlington, Vt., yesterday.

The plane—a six-passenger L20 Beaver—carried three officers and the pilot. It took off from the Ft. Jay airstrip. The flight normally takes three hours.

Participating in the search were Civil Air Patrol planes from Vermont, New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut, as well as Air Force planes.

Zhukov to See Tito

LONDON (AP)—Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister, left Moscow today for Yugoslavia. Apparently he is taking his time getting to Tito.

Moscow Radio announced Zhukov's departure and said he was traveling via the Crimea—where Soviet communist party boss Khrushchev has been vacationing.

Officially Zhukov is returning the visit to Moscow of Yugoslav defense minister Ivan Goshjak.

• BRIDGE How to Adopt Transfer Idea

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

An Albany, N. Y., reader wants to know what happens to the Jacoby transfer bid when second hand bids over the opening no-trump.

The answer is that the transfer bid moves up to the four level and that all low level bids become normal.

Today's North would have used the two heart transfer if West had not overcalled South's opening no-trump with a two heart bid. Instead, North simply bid four hearts. This was a four level transfer and South properly went to four spades which became the final contract.

West opened the five of diamonds. South won with the jack and played the queen of spades. West won and led a second diamond which was won by declarer's king. A second spade was played to the jack and the club finesse taken. West won with the king and returned a club whereupon declarer was able to discard both dummy's hearts on his long clubs and make five odd.

West could have saved one trick by cashing his heart ace but he had no way to beat the contract.

It will be noted that there was no play for three no-trump and that a four spade contract by North would have gone down one trick since East would have opened a heart. With South as declarer East could never get the lead and the contract was iron-clad.

HOW IS FANEUIL IN FANEUIL HALL PRONOUNCED
The building in Boston known as Faneuil Hall received its name from Peter Faneuil (1700-1743), a merchant of French Huguenot descent, who was born at New Rochelle, New York, but who in his youth went to Boston, where he inherited a considerable fortune from his uncle. The preferable present-day pronunciation of Faneuil is FANN'L, although it is sometimes pronounced FANN-yel, and formerly it was pronounced FUNN'L. Apparently the last is the way Faneuil pronounced his name, because it was spelled Funnell on his tombstone.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"The fur people are a great part of my life," says actress June Havoc, who keeps and is consoled by seven dogs and two cats.

"They are my companions. I started out with them when there were no 'skin people'—no children my own age—around to play with. Therefore the fur people have been a great part of my life, and still are.

"You know how a hobo, if you give him a handout, will make a mark on the pavement to let other hoboes know yours is a door to knock on? Well, I have a cross like that on top of my head.

"It's invisible to the skin people, but it says to all the fur people, 'This is the place, Charlie!'

"Dogs can see it two blocks away and give me the wink. They know I know."

Honored for Work
Miss Havoc has been honored by west coast humane societies for her work in helping save 265,000 homeless cats and dogs doomed to extermination.

"I helped get them jobs," she said. "I particularly like to find jobs for middle-aged fur people who have lost their former homes. They are truly tragic. Everybody loves a puppy or a kitty—but who ever buys a middle-aged dog or cat?"

Miss Havoc, Gypsy Rose Lee's little sister, feels there is a kind of kinship between the fur people and human entertainers—a secret bond of understanding. Both know their main role in life is to make somebody else feel better.

June herself admits she didn't earn a penny until she was two years old, when she started dancing in vaudeville.

"At 3 I went into films, and at 3½ the legitimate theater," she recalled.

Says It's Tough Life

"Actors lead a life most people could never stand. They're always in and out of the freezer. They have so many low moments. . . moments when nobody wants them. . . moments that can annihilate."

"Fortitude is 90 per cent of show business. Show business isn't really a career at all—it's a life."

June, who is featured tomorrow night on Ed Murrow's CBS network program, "Person to Person," isn't in the freezer at the moment. She is writing her autobiography and rehearsing for a new Broadway comedy called, "One Foot in the Door."

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

STANDING ROOM ONLY

Old-time BIBLES told us that Adam and Eve started to raise Cain 4004 years before Christ.

Now everybody is raising Cain! Babies are busting out all over.

Dr. Karl Sax, of Harvard, calculates that if, beginning with Adam, population had increased by only 1½ per year, the entire surface of the earth would have provided Standing Room Only by the time Christ was born.

There would have been no room to grow anything to eat. Mankind would have marched from the cradle to the grave!

Well, it didn't happen, but read on. There's a sequel.

The sequel is that the world's population is now increasing more than 1½ a year. And instead of Adam and Eve doing the increasing, 2,700,000,000 people are busy at it.

If the present baby boom keeps up, along with medical science, the Standing Room Only sign will go up much sooner. In fact, we, Americans, will double in 40 years, as we are increasing faster than the world is doing, faster than India.

A century ago, Dr. Malthus said population tends to increase faster than the supply of food.

That was a polite way of saying that people reproduce better than they produce.

Looks now as if Malthus was right. The noted historian, Toynbee, thinks this exploding population growth is the world's gravest problem.

With half of mankind already hungry, what's next?

over the weekend. Mr. Edinger is stationed at Fort Hamilton on Long Island at present as a member of the armed forces.

President Finally Spells Out Particulars Against Faubus

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower finally has spelled out a bill of particulars against Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus.

He tried, as is his custom, to avoid personalities. He said, it's not his practice to interpret people's motives.

But he did say, under questioning at his news conference yesterday, that he believes Faubus "is mistaken in what he is doing, and is doing a disservice to the city (of Little Rock) and to his state."

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass.—During my recent summer vacation, I studied hobbies—in other words, my hobby was hobbies! I now list 30 of these. As "food for one is poison for another," I will list these in alphabetical order without showing any preference. However, my choice would be Antique Furniture, about which I will write one or two weeks hence.

Art and Painting. The most expensive of all hobbies is the buying of valuable paintings and other art collections. Furthermore, many prominent men, such as President Eisenhower and Winston Churchill, adopt amateur painting as their hobby.

suits from flies of their own making, in competition with those of friends.

Glass Painting. This is sometimes practiced by those who cannot enamel well. There, however, is a trick to painting on the reverse side of glass. The results are very permanent.

Hooked and Braided Rugs and Patchwork Quilts. This is a very popular hobby with invalids and older people. Children appreciate such products made by their grandmothers.

Leathercraft. The carving and burning of leather is a most interesting hobby for those who wish to make their own wedding presents or Christmas gifts.

Manuscript and Autograph Collecting. Both of these are interesting and profitable hobbies.

Miniatures. These are very small "models" made to represent animals, soldiers, and dolls, etc. Such work requires both skill and patience.

Model Building. Fathers interest their children by making ships, airplanes, and even doll houses.

Musical Instruments. Many busy executives have kept from having a nervous breakdown by learning to play some musical instrument and perhaps joining some local band. The collection of phonograph records and tapes are hobbies for some, as well as the collecting of books.

Nature Study. The raising and appreciation of flowers and birds, and even enjoyment of scenery is a hobby. I feel, however, that one must inherit this love and be "born" with it.

Paper Work. Many women secure most excellent results by making paper flowers, paper favors, and paper table pieces. These can be used, or given to friends, or sold.

Photography. The taking of pictures, developing and printing of films, and enlarging of prints is very popular.

Radio Electronics. This is a hobby which often secures excellent positions for both men and women.

Radio Hams. Transmitting and receiving messages by the shortwaves reserved for amateurs is a popular hobby for boys mechanically minded; it often leads to good jobs.

Sewing. Knitting, and Embroidering. These are very old hobbies.

Shell Painting and Designing. This is a marvelous hobby for many women by the seaside. A remarkable example is Mary Wetherell of Rockport, Mass.

Silver Working. This includes the making of jewelry, hammered trays, and even table ware. It can become a profitable profession.

Sports. The enjoyment of sports and reading of the results is an excellent hobby for busy executives. One should avoid betting, however.

Sports Tournaments. This is a hobby for some; but it soon becomes a business.

Toys — (Radio-controlled) — such as cars, planes, ships, balloons, etc.

Weaving. The weaving of baskets and other household trays is a useful hobby for those who are convalescing from an illness, either physical or mental.

Wood Burning. This hobby involves the making of plaques and pictures. Designs can be traced on the wood. The burning is usually done with an electric point.

Woodworking. This involves carving, which may develop into a profession.

Conclusion: You may be surprised that I am writing on hobbies as I am supposed to confine myself to business, real estate, and investment; but I believe that in this rushing age hobbies can be a real investment toward better health and better judgment, and possibly an economic insurance. Anything which improves our physical or mental health helps our business judgment and promotions, and contributes to success.

New Paltz Area Methodist Notes

Communion Sunday

Joining with the millions of other Christians throughout the world, members and friends of the New Paltz Methodist Parish will participate in World-Wide Communion observance Sunday, Oct. 6.

Services will begin in the parish at 8:30 with the early service of worship in New Paltz. Communion will be served in Lloyd at the 9:15 service and at the 11 a. m. worship service in New Paltz. Plutarch Service of Holy Communion will take place at 2 p. m. The Rev. Willett Porter, pastor, will be assisted in these services by Peter Jacobs, local preacher.

Methodist participation is distinguished by the fact that the church takes this "day of peculiar and sacred interest" to invite its people to "take the needy world into their hearts by laying on the altar an offering for the outstanding needs administered by the Methodist Fellowship of Suffering and Service."

"Half of this offering is used for ministry to our young men and women in the armed forces of the country," the Rev. Mr. Porter said. "Part is channeled through the Methodist Commission on Chaplains, to shepherd our own and other young people in their places of service." There are 610 Methodist ministers serving as chaplains. And the other part, Commission on Camp Activities, goes to local churches for help in providing spiritual ministry and social programs for these armed forces young people in their off-duty hours.

The other half of the communion offering goes to MCOB. "These initials," Methodist's Senior Bishop Herbert Welch, wrote recently, "are well known in Korea, in India, and in a score of other countries where Methodist benevolence administered by the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief have fallen like 'the gentle rain from heaven' upon the parched ground of desperate need—not only for food, clothing, and shelter, but for a Christ-like compassion and understanding which tell the story of a loving Father and a brotherly Christ."

The Nursery will care for children at the 11 a. m. New Paltz service. Holy Communion will be served in the homes of shut-ins during the following week.

Supper Oct. 16

The Black Diamond supper will be held Oct. 16, in the social hall of the church at Main and Grove Streets. Servings of the roast beef dinner will be at 5:30 and 7:00.

Buddy Ingraham and Willard Hornbeck are general chairmen. Tickets are now available from members or at Doug's Auto Service, or Maggie's Dress Shop.

Congregational Supper

Raymond Buckley, general chairman of the New Paltz Methodist Church's participation in the Sector Plan of the Every Member Canvass, and Wilbur Fredenburgh, organizational chairman, announced that on Wednesday, Oct. 23, a congregational supper will be served for the members and friends of the church. They assure the membership that there will be no charge and no work to do. This is an important aspect of the Sector Plan. It is hoped that member families will clear their schedules to make it possible to be present for this great and important gathering.

Men at Work

The work project of the men of the New Paltz Methodist Church rolls into high gear next week with teams meeting at the church Monday and Wednesday at 7 p. m. "Painting, cleaning, laying tile, varnishing, etc. are the orders for these nights," according to Lanson Rhinehart, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Theodore Kroger, sexton.

Plutarch Meeting

The monthly congregational meeting of the Plutarch Methodist Church will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliott Jr., on the Plutarch Road. Important business will be taken up in connection with the Sector Plan.

Ladies to Meet

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Lloyd Methodist Church will meet Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 7:30

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The run on the British pound by speculators has pulled her reserve of gold and dollars below the theoretical danger point of two billion dollars.

But Uncle Sam stands ready to help as in the past when Britain had one of her recurring financial crises.

This time Britain will draw on a 500-million-dollar credit given her by the United States Export-Import Bank. If the pound needs further bolstering there is also a 750-million-dollar credit approved by the International Monetary Fund.

Drastic Move

And Britain herself has taken a drastic move to stop the run by raising the bank rate to 7 per cent. This is the rate that the Bank of England charges for funds it supplies to commercial banks and the rate tends to set the scale of interest in general.

The rate was raised from 5 per cent to fight one of the underlying causes of the run on the pound—inflation. In this country the similar rate—the discount rate of the Federal Reserve Banks—has been raised 3.5 per cent. Here, too, tightening of money and credit was aimed at the same for—inflation.

The fight to save the British pound may be felt by some American businesses.

The First National City Bank of New York notes in its October bank letter that "a check to spending abroad may limit American exports to some extent and may exert a moderately depressing influence on some world commodities."

Speculation Blamed

The bank agrees that speculators expecting the British pound to be devalued and the German mark to be revalued higher caused the run that got Britain in its curricular plight. But the bank digs a little deeper than that. It points out:

"Basic to the weakness of the pound are the allied factors of creeping inflation (at a rate of 4.5 per cent a year), overfull employment, demands for more public expenditures, and taxation that impedes capital accumulation."

This sounds very much like what some American critics have been saying about the reasons the U. S. dollar in recent months has been losing its purchasing power (at the rate of 3 per cent a year here).

Britain and Germany have announced firmly that they plan to keep the present valuation on the pound and mark, respectively. American bankers accept these intentions as honest.

But some add that only time will tell whether they can. The fight against inflation is a hard one in England. The strength of the German mark as compared to other West European currencies may call for negotiations in the future.

To Fulfill Promise

DALLAS (AP)—A senior at the old Central High School in Fort Worth made a promise to a fellow senior 31 years ago.

Once predicted: "Some day I'm going to be a minister and have a church of my own."

Said the other: "Some day I'm going to be the governor of Texas."

Asked the first boy: "When you get to be governor, will you come and speak to my congregation?"

"Sure I will," replied the second.

That promise will be fulfilled Sunday morning when Gov. Price Daniel speaks to Dr. J. A. Lowell's congregation at the First Covenant Church here.

Dies of Injuries

BUFFALO (AP)—Charles Wilson, 29, died yesterday of injuries received last Monday when his automobile swerved out of control and hit a pole.

Peg Leg Bates Is Celebrating 50th Birthday Saturday

One of the nation's celebrities in the entertainment world, and a benefactor of local handicapped youngsters, will celebrate his 50th birthday Saturday night at his Kerhonkson night club.

He is Peg Leg Bates, one-legged dancer, who has danced on the Ed Sullivan program and is expecting the famous television maestro to be at his area night club to take a bow.

"We are not certain whether Mr. Sullivan will be present, because he is a busy man," Bates said, "but if it is possible for him to make it, he will be with us."

And if Sullivan does not find it possible for an appearance, there will be other noted folk of the entertainment field at Peg Leg Bates Country Club to help celebrate Peg's half-century natal day.

Some of Guests

Some of the guest stars due to take part in the program, which is scheduled for 9:30 p. m., are Edna McGriff, recording star; Al Sears, saxophone player with the Duke Ellington band; Harlem's leading disk jockey, Jack Walker; in addition to the band of Artie Suggs or Chris Christopher.

Peg's protégé, Jimmy Valentine, another one-legged dancer, will be on hand to join him in the anniversary program, he said.

Has Helped Locally

Bates is one of the entertainment world luminaries who has taken an interest in local benevolent programs since coming to this area a few years ago. He has donated his services for local charitable causes, notably infantile paralysis and cerebral palsy.

This local area night club owner has played in various areas of the county for the polo fund, and has done the same for the cause of cerebral palsy, his latest appearance having been for the 50 Club Show sponsored for the benefit of the Ulster County clinic at 400 Broadway.

Bates, who lost his left leg to a cotton gin years ago, believes that youngsters stricken with either polio or born crippled by cerebral palsy deserve every consideration.

"Whatever help we can give them is a Godsend," he said. He has received various citations from local organizations which he has helped to promote their programs.

At a surprise testimonial dinner in his own club he pledged to help any project for the aid of those stricken by loss of their limbs or faculties and praised folk of the Ellenville area who promoted the event.

He said, however, "let's think of those who are starting to beat a handicap and dedicate this occasion to them."

Indications are that many of the sponsors of the programs in which Peg Leg Bates participated will be with him Saturday to celebrate the birthday program.

TV's Kitzel Dies

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The man who played Mr. Kitzel on Jack Benny's radio and television shows is dead.

Arthur (Artie) Auerback, 54, died yesterday of a heart ailment. Auerback's dialect rendition of the song "Pickle in the Middle with the Mustard on Top" became a show business classic.

Accord Notes

By JULIUS LUDWIG

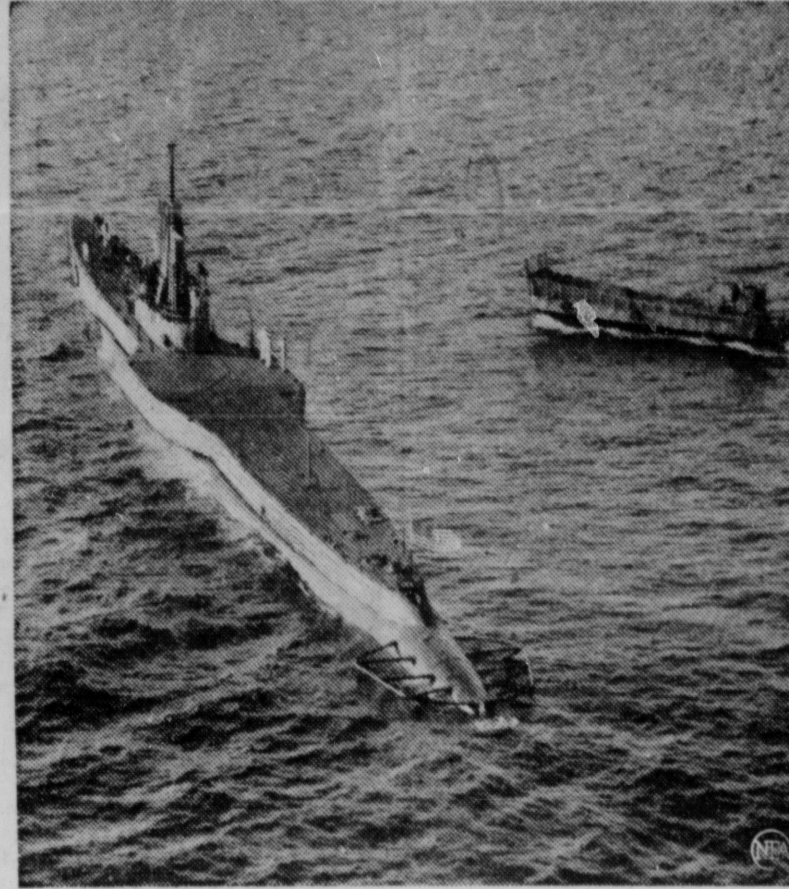

Children versus Furniture

Their real names were Basil, Merton and Susan D., but the neighbors called them Battle, Murder and Sudden Death. Not bad children—just very lively and full of healthy animal spirits, on the go from morning to night.

Their mother was in despair when she looked at the furniture in her living room, until someone told her about the new plastics. Now her home is a pleasure to behold. The sofa is covered in supported Boltflex, as are the chairs and hassocks. Impervious to scuff marks, a quick wiping with a damp cloth keeps them always bright and new-looking. Tables are plastic-topped, yet have the appearance of wood. Bookcases and magazine stands are of handsome wrought-iron. But it is not the home alone that has improved; mother's disposition, too, has undergone a wondrous change.

If you have this problem, why not pay a visit to the Accord Furniture & TV Mart on Route 209 in Accord (just a short drive from Kingston)? Here you will find on display sofas and chairs covered in the new materials that are both durable and attractive, in colors and styles to harmonize with any decor. Also a wide selection of tables, bookcases, lamps, mirrors, pictures and rugs. October special: handsome sofa in Boltflex Palomino, usually $165.00, now $149.00.

Visitors are welcome to browse through the Mart showrooms any weekday from 9 to 5:30, Saturdays to 7, and on Sundays it's "open house" from 2 to 6. Evenings by appointment—call Kerhonkson 2711.

SOME SUB—With the Stars and Stripes flying from its stern, this somewhat odd-looking submarine taking part in operation "Deep Sea" surfaces in the Dardanelles. Crewmen topside on the sub watch a landing craft returning from the coast of Canakkale, opposite the Gallipoli peninsula in Turkey. The landing craft, as well as helicopters, which presumably landed on what appears to be the sub's flight deck, carried U.S. Marines ashore to aid Greek and Turkish troops already "engaged" in simulated combat. NATO forces are engaged in mock nuclear warfare.

Saugerties Area Brush Fire Burns Out Four Acres

One of the first brush fires of the season in the Saugerties area swept over nearly four acres of land in Quarryville, northwest of the village of Saugerties Thursday afternoon.

According to Fire Warden Charles Riley of Pine Grove the fire on the property of Fred Wells apparently started from Route 32. The alarm sounded at 4:30 p. m., and Fire Wardens Riley and Jansen Dederick of Katsbaan responded with 21 men and a water tank truck of Saxton Fire Company under the supervision of Chief Paul Boehm of Saxton.

The first was under control by 7 p. m. However the area was patrolled until after 10 p. m. Fire Warden Riley said it is apparent that the fire was caused by a lighted cigarette thrown from a passing car.

Day for Doctors

ALBANY (AP)—Gov. Harriman proclaimed yesterday that Physicians' Day would be observed in New York State Oct. 18, the feast day of the evangelist St. Luke of Antioch, patron saint of physicians.

So They Say..

Hollywood hasn't changed much—it's still mediocre and its women uninspiring. Their dress is so uniform that they look like an American Army.

I want to thank you for being so nice about the whole thing. Sure, the ($39.75) fine hurt, but the longer I feel the effect, the longer I will watch my speed.

—Robert L. Boyd, Muskegon, Mich., in a letter to arresting officer who stopped him at 92 m.p.h.

There is a distinction between self-government and independence. . . . It is not the case that we have told (the United States) is the right solution.

—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

My daddy don't want me . . . and now my mommy don't want me.

Turned Wrong Valve

MILTON, W. Va. (AP)—A gas company employee turned the wrong valves yesterday and Milton was without service for seven hours.

The Southern Public Service Co. blamed it all on a faulty map. A pipeline was being repaired and, according to the map, the work area could be isolated by turning two valves, leaving Milton's supply undisturbed.

But when the valves were closed, the company said, the city's gas supply was shut off.

College - Community Orchestra Begins Rehearsal Sessions

The College-Community Orchestra of the State University Teachers College, New Paltz, held its second meeting and rehearsal of the 1957-58 season Tuesday, October 1, at 7:15 p. m. The group met in the music room of the College Auditorium wing.

Dr. O. Lincoln Igou, director of the orchestra, invites all new and older musicians "from sixteen to sixty" who are interested to come to the campus.

Membership in this organization, Dr. Igou explained, ranges from professional musicians through talented amateurs and college students to a scattering of the more capable high school players in the mid-Hudson area. There are no membership fees or dues, but all instrumentalists contribute their services for the benefit of the entire group.

Communities represented by the members include New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Kingston, Port Ewen, Woodstock, West Shokan, Swan Lake, Lake Katrine, Gramhamsville, Livingston Manor, Sawkill, Ellenville, Rhinebeck and West Point.

Beethoven's Second Symphony in D Major will be the chief composition to which attention will be directed on Tuesday evenings and this work will occupy a prominent place on the first of three programs which the orchestra will present throughout the current season. Other selections will be in a similar vein, Dr. Igou said, although some will be lighter and some will be for soloists and the orchestra working together.

This is the beginning of the twelfth year in which the orchestra has been under the leadership of Dr. Igou, Professor of Humanities at the college. He expressed the hope that this would be the best year for the orchestra thus far and urged interested musicians to attend the meetings on Tuesday evenings. All rehearsals will end at 10 o'clock.

Art Demonstrations By Japanese Artists At New Paltz College

Two art demonstrations by the internationally famous family of Japanese artists will be presented at the State University Teachers College New Paltz, on October 6 and 7 in the College Union Building.

The general public is invited to attend these demonstrations free of charge according to Dr. Ralph L. Wickiser, chairman of the Art Education Division. He extended a special invitation to garden clubs in this area to attend the flower arrangement demonstration which is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 6, at 3 p. m.

The flower arrangements will be demonstrated by Chizuko, wife of Hodaka Yoshida, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Hiroshi Yoshida in vocal interpretations. It is said that a great deal of delicacy of imagination is shown in the presentation of these arrangements.

Mrs. Hiroshi Yoshida is an artist of high standing, and she has now turned to oil painting and is doing striking work with enlargements of flower centers. Monday, Oct. 7, from 4 to 5 p. m., Hodaka Yoshida will show the art of wood block printing, a form of art which was revived in the early 1920's by Hodaka's father, Hiroshi. The father became a foremost artist of Japan in this field and is widely recognized throughout Europe and the United States. He was unique in that he not only cut the wood blocks, but made the prints himself. He died in 1950 leaving his family well versed in many arts. His son has experimented widely in contemporary techniques and has developed a distinct style of his own.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jorgensen of New Paltz have known the Yoshida family for many years during the time that the Jorgensons made their home in Japan, from 1912 to 1939, while Mr. Jorgensen was Senior Secretary of the International Committee of the YMCA in Tokyo. Mrs. Jorgensen, a member of the College Advisory Council, made the arrangements to have the Yoshida family on the campus.

BALLSTON SPA (AP)—Donald C. Smith, 23, of Ballston Lake, charged with first-degree murder in the hanging of an 11-year-old boy, will be given a sanity test at Utica State Hospital. Police say Smith has admitted that he lured Peter Curran of Ballston Lake into the woods last July 20, committed sodomy and then killed him to seal his lips. Justice Paul D. Graves of State Supreme Court yesterday ordered the psychiatric examination on the motion of Smith's attorney, George A. Marcus of Schenectady. Dist. Atty. Carleton J. Wife Had Babies

14-Day Leave Blossoms Into Six-Year Stay

PLYMOUTH, England (AP)—Gunner Bartholomew Meehan received 14 days compassionate leave from the British army to visit his wife and their new baby in 1951. He came back six years later. At a court-martial yesterday on a charge of desertion, Meehan said he just couldn't seem to get away from his wife.

When he wanted to give himself up in 1952, she disclosed that she was going to have another baby. The same thing happened in 1953 and again in 1954, 1955 and 1956. Upon learning that no child was expectable this year, Meehan told the court, he surrendered to the military police. The sympathetic court let the penitent father of six off with a sentence of one year's detention.

FTC Okays Trade Stamps; Warns of Deceptive Plans

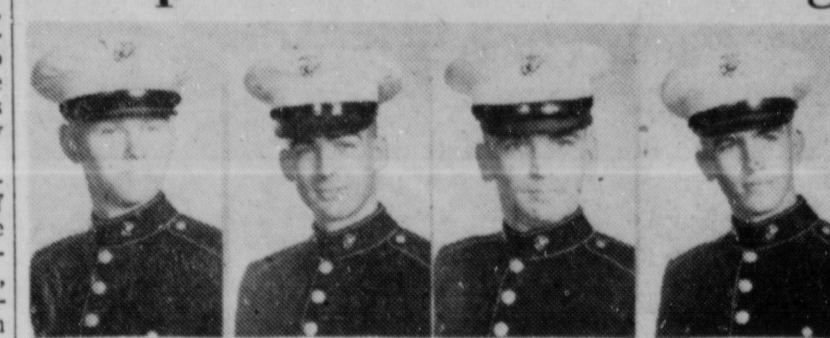

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trading stamp plans are a perfectly legitimate trade practice so long as they are properly operated, the Federal Trade Commission has decided. The five commissioners of the FTC, after nearly 18 months of study, came up with that unanimous opinion yesterday. But they said the commission will crack down on any stamp plan found to be deceiving the public or used in any way as an unfair method of competition. The stamp plans, started more than 60 years ago, have grown into a merchandising phenomenon in this country. There are now 300 kinds of trading stamps distributed in the United States. The stamps, given with purchases, are turned in for premiums with a retail value estimated at 600 million dollars a year.

The FTC turned its investigative eye on the plans last year following complaints by both businessmen and customers that the plans were deceptive trade practices or unfair methods of competition. The stamp plans, started more than 60 years ago, have grown into a merchandising phenomenon in this country. There are now 300 kinds of trading stamps distributed in the United States. The stamps, given with purchases, are turned in for premiums with a retail value estimated at 600 million dollars a year.

Mahoney Denies Need to Revise N. Y. Constitution

ROCHESTER (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney says he sees no need for a proposed convention to revise the state Constitution. Mahoney, a Republican, told the 28th convention of the Town Highway Superintendents Assn. last night: "Who is there to say — besides a group of Democrats and Liberals who would reapportion the Legislature to permit a Tammanyizing of our state — that a one-shot convention meeting for a few months could overhaul and improve the basic law of our state in such a short time?"

He contended that the Legislature was doing "an outstanding job" in proposing amendments. Levitt for Revision
In Albany, Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, said in a statement last night: "The Constitution must be thoroughly reviewed and brought up to date...This can only be accomplished effectively through an open constitutional convention at which the views of the people can be thoroughly aired."

Levitt said that constitutional provisions governing the division of functions between the state and local government "are so intermingled and interwoven that they can not adequately be dealt with by piecemeal constitutional amendments adopted at our brief and busy legislative session." Levitt issued the statement after a day-long meeting of the governor's committee on home rule.

Voters to Decide

New York voters will decide at the polls next month whether a constitutional convention will be held in 1959. Democrats, who want to give population more weight in apportionment of legislative seats, favor a convention. The Republican party has not taken an official stand, but its leaders are cool toward it.

Golf Sponsors Assured of Profit

LINDRICK, England — Star American and British professional golfers open their battle for the Ryder Cup today and the sponsors are sure of a profit before even a stroke is made.

Wealthy northern industrialist Sir Stuart Goodwin swept away all money headaches for the British PGA with a gift of 10,000 pounds ($28,000).

In the last five years Goodwin, 70, has given about 30,000 pounds ($84,000) to British professional golf.

"I love golf," he said, "so I try to help it along."

The Ryder Cup Match opened with scotch foursomes. Four pairs of Americans met four pairs from the British Isles. The eight singles will be played on Saturday.

William (Bud) Kerr, football coach at the University of Dayton, played end for three years at Notre Dame 20 years ago.

The Associated Press

If there is trouble brewing for the nation's top 10 college football teams Saturday it doesn't show in the over-all scores of the ranked elevens and their opponents.

In going undefeated in 14 games, the teams comprising the first 10 in this week's Associated Press poll have rolled up a total of 460 points while holding their opponents to 72.

By contrast, their opponents this week have won only five, lost 10 and tied three. In the 18 games, they scored only a total of 189 points while yielding 256.

Sooners Seek 2nd

The potent Sooners from Oklahoma, idle last week after blanking Pitt 26-0, go after their 42nd successive victory with Iowa State (1-0-1) as their opponents. Oklahoma has not been beaten by a Big Eight conference team since Bud Wilkinson took over the coaching reins 10 years ago.

Second-ranked Michigan State, 1-0 after blasting Indiana 54-0 in the Spartans opener, meets winless California (0-2) in the game that will be seen on the national television screens. NBC will turn on its cameras at Berkeley, Calif., after completion of the World Series game at Milwaukee.

The remainder of the top 10 line up like this:

Minnesota, 46-7 conqueror of Washington in its only outing, meets Purdue, 0-1 after losing 12-0 to Notre Dame, in a Big Ten Conference opener for both. Duke, 2-0 with 26-14 conquest of South Carolina and 40-0 victors over Virginia, takes on disappointing Maryland (0-2).

Aggies vs Missouri

The Texas Aggies, with a 21-13 victory over Maryland and a 21-0 blanking of Texas Tech to show for two starts, meets Missouri, 0-1 with a 7-7 tie with Vanderbilt and 35-14 victory over Arizona.

Navy, considered by many experts to be the best in the east after thrashing Boston College 46-6 and William & Mary 33-6, clashes with North Carolina (1-1) while Auburn, surprise 7-0 conqueror of Tennessee in its lone effort, should have no trouble against Chattanooga (1-0-1).

Iowa Home

Iowa's Hawkeyes, who showed a great potential in downing Utah State 70-14, are at home to another intersectional opponent in Washington State (1-1). Oregon State, with a 20-0 victory over Southern California and 34-6 over Kansas, also steps out of its league for a clash with Northwestern (0-1).

Michigan, figured to be one of the title threats in the Big Ten, entertains Georgia (0-2) after turning back Southern California 16-6 in its only other start.

Outside of games involving the top ten, the national schedule is loaded with first flight games starting tonight when Pitt's promising Panthers play Southern California on the West Coast.

Elsewhere Saturday the major games include:

East—Princeton at Columbia, Florida State at Villanova, Army at Penn State, Dartmouth at Penn, Boston Univ. at Syracuse, and Brown at Yale.

MIDWEST—Houston at Cincinnati (N), Kansas at Colorado, Colgate at Illinois, Nebraska at Kansas State, Tulane at Marquette (N), Indiana at Notre Dame, and West Virginia at Wisconsin.

SOUTH—North Carolina State at Clemson, Florida at Kentucky (N), Mississippi State at Tennessee (N), and Virginia at Wake Forest (N).

SOUTHWEST—Texas Christian at Arkansas (N), Stanford at Rice (N), and South Carolina at Texas (N).

FAR WEST—Detroit at Air Force Academy, Utah at Idaho, UCLA at Oregon (N), and Ohio State at Washington.

'56 Golf Finalists Favored to Repeat

PARAMUS, N. J. — A repeat of the 1956 final was in prospect today for the United States Golf Assn.'s Senior Amateur Championship.

Last year's finalists, Fred J. Wright of Watertown, Mass., and Clark Espie of Indianapolis both were favored in today's 18-hole semifinal tests at the Ridgewood Country Club.

Wright's opponent was James McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., while Espie faced John M. Winters of Tulsa.

Scene Switches To Milwaukee For Third Game

MILWAUKEE — Back home with a split in the two games played at Yankee Stadium, the suddenly stimulated Milwaukee Braves, from manager Fred Haney down, were confident today they would beat the New York Yankees.

But the odds-makers still made the proud American League champions a slight 6-5 favorite to capture their second straight World Series.

Elated by his team's fine all-around performance yesterday that backed up Lew Burdette's brilliant pitching with a 4-2 triumph, Haney plans to throw Bob Buhl, the last of his big three, at the Yankees tomorrow in the first of three consecutive games at County Stadium. The 18-game winner will be opposed by Bob Turley, New York's hardest-throwing pitcher. A partisan crowd of more than 47,000, encouraged by predicted cloudy but favorable weather, is expected to be on hand for the first World Series game ever to be played in Milwaukee.

Altered Lineups

Both teams will most certainly present altered lineups from those that staged a terrific battle before 65,202 Yankee Stadium fans yesterday in a game that was still in doubt until Hank Bauer rapped in to a game-ending force play to leave the tying runs on the bases. It was the kind of a victory that soared the underdog Braves' hopes to a new high and a defeat that caused the glum Yankees to regard the under-rated Milwaukeeans with new respect.

"Those fellows showed our guys they mean business," declared Casey Stengel, the all-knowing New York manager. "This was a big game for them. They're going to be tougher to beat from now on. Mind you, I'm not saying we won't do it, but it's not going to be easy. Not from the looks of the way they battled us today."

Taking a cue from his players, who fought the Yankees tooth and nail in the second game, even to the extent of exchanging harsh words and beanballs, the usually mild-mannered Haney hurled a veiled challenge at Casey's crew.

"We know we will win now," he said defiantly. "We're over the hump. We stood up to those guys in their own back yard and held them even. Now they've got to play us three games in our park. I think pitching will be the key to this series and I know we've got the pitching."

Hazle to Start

In an effort to make use of as much left-handed batting strength as possible against the righthanded Turley, Haney will open with a revised lineup that will include the spectacular rookie, Bob Hazle, in place of the veteran Andy Pafko, in right field, and probably Frank Torre instead of Joe Adcock, at first base. Del Rice, a .500 hitter in the 1946 World Series for the St. Louis Cardinals, will catch Buhl.

The batting order will also suffer a slight alteration. Wes Covington, the hitting star of the series up to now, with four safeties in eight times at bat, has been moved up from seventh to fifth, with Hazle batting sixth, Torre seventh and Rice eighth.

Stengel said he would not decide on his third-base lineup until after this afternoon's practice session but he indicated one or two changes would be made. He was strongly considering playing Jerry Lumpe, his left-handed hitting rookie, at third base and moving Tony Kubek back to left field. Other wise the lineup will remain unchanged.

Haney was still exultant today over his team's success yesterday in what he called "the most satisfying" game we've played all year.

Burdette 'Marvelous'

"Everybody was great. Burdette was simply marvelous. Covington not only hit well but made the best defensive play of the series so far. His catch on Bobby Shantz was the turning point of the game," Haney said.

The biggest praise, of course, was for Burdette, the fidgety, 30-year-old sidearm from Nitro, W. Va., who throttled the Yankees on seven hits. A home run by Hank Bauer and a 15-foot dribble-single by Jerry Coleman produced the only Yankee runs.

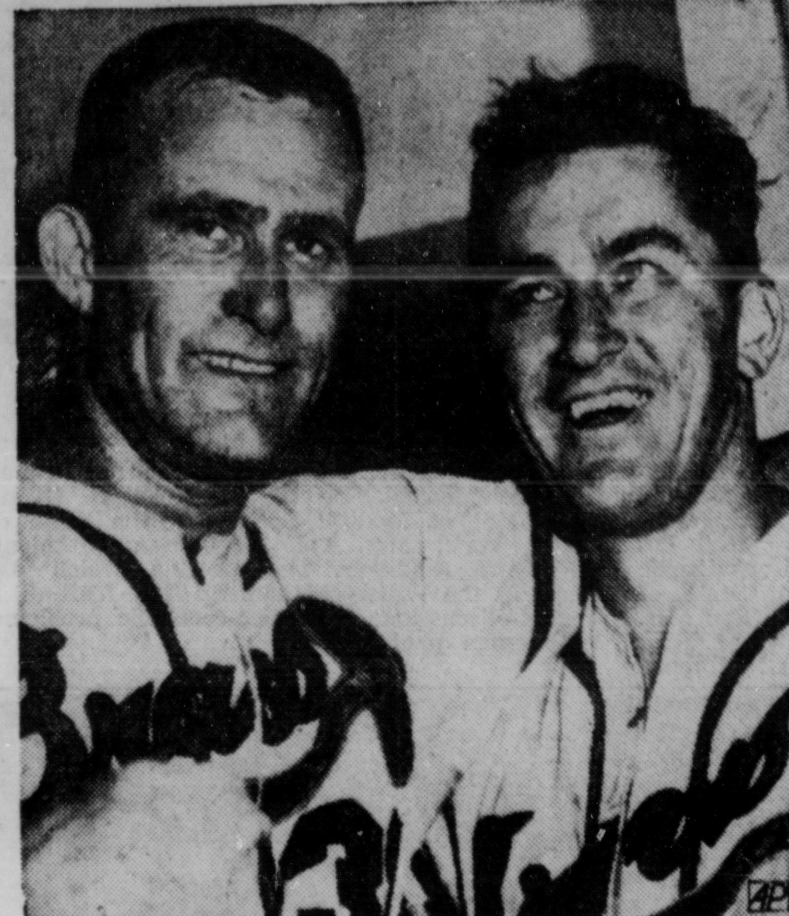

Burdette's toughest inning, outside of those that saw New York score, was the sixth, when Mickey Mantle walked and Enos Slaughter sliced a one-out double to left. The rangy righthander, then made a fine play on Harry Simpson's roller toward third, getting his man by a whisker and keeping the runner anchored. The runners remained stranded when Schoendienst threw out Kubek.

Lew, once Yankee property, had to fight off another challenge in the ninth. After disposing of Simpson, he gave up singles to Kubek and pinchhitter Lumpe, in between an out by Joe Collins, and suddenly the Yankees had the tying runs on base. But Burdette rose to the challenge by inducing the dangerous Bauer to send a roller to Logan, who threw to Schoendienst for the force play.

Ring Magazine Names Basilio

NEW YORK — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio's victory over middleweight ruler Sugar Ray Robinson not only gained Basilio the 160-pound crown but earned him the "Fighter of the Month" award in the Ring Magazine monthly ratings released today. It also put him high on the list for the Fighter of the Year prize.

Robinson became the No. 1 challenger as Gene Fullmer, another former champion, dropped to second place.

BROUGHT JOY TO MILWAUKEE—Lew Burdette, left, and Johnny Logan pose in Yankee Stadium dressing room after Braves beat Yanks, 4-2, to even the 1957 World Series at a game apiece. Burdette pitched a seven-hitter while Logan homered and made a diving defensive play in the ninth inning. (AP Wirephoto)

Busso Pick In TV Bout

WASHINGTON — Johnny Busso, a rising star among lightweights, and Ernie (Sonny Boy) Williams, a home town boy getting his first crack at main-event money, clash tonight in a 10-round bout at Capitol Arena.

Busso, 23-year-old New Yorker, is a 2-1 favorite to mar Williams' debut as a fighter on television.

Williams may have the local audience in his corner, for he's a Washingtonian, but Busso will have a distinct advantage in experience and position. Busso is ranked ninth among 135-pounders, while Williams is just graduating from the semiprofessional class and hasn't crashed the ratings.

Hardly known elsewhere, Sonny Boy is popular here and in New York for his sharp performances as a preliminary fighter.

The bout will be carried on the usual Friday night radio-TV hook-up (NBC 10 p. m.).

Busso has a showing of 30-5-1, with 14 knockouts to his credit. Williams, 21, shows a 19-3-1 record. He has flattened nine.

Army-Penn State Game May Decide Lambert Trophy

Eastern football interest will be focused on Penn State's Beaver Field tomorrow afternoon when Army, for the first time in history, invades University Park for an all-important meeting with the Nittany Lions. A capacity crowd of 30,000 is assured.

This will be one of the first meetings between major eastern opponents this season and may have a definite bearing on who will win the Lambert trophy, symbolic of eastern supremacy.

Coach Earl Blaik's Black Knights displayed a fast and powerful brand of football last Saturday in decisively defeating Nebraska 42-0. Meanwhile in Philadelphia, Penn State found a rejuvenated Pennsylvania team troublesome before winning 19-14.

Used 37 Players

Blaik used a total of 37 players in the Nebraska game and found eight different Cadets listed in the scoring column. Army rolled up 424 yards total offense while limiting the opposition to 173 by passing and rushing.

Army will more than likely start the same team that opened against Nebraska. Quarterback Dave Bourland was impressive in his passing by completing 6 of 10 aeriels for 65 yards including one touchdown toss to end Bill Graf. The Black Knights dis-

Milwaukee Fans Roll Out The Red Carpet for Club

Bean-Ball Feud Denied by Braves

NEW YORK — Is the World Series developing into a bean-ball feud?

Nope, said the Milwaukee Braves, who squared the series at 1-1 with the New York Yankees yesterday.

Umpire Jocko Conlan was forced to warn Art Ditmar of the Yanks against throwing at the Braves yesterday after he hit Johnny Logan and sent Hank Aaron into the dirt.

Logan had crashed a home run off Bobby Shantz and the next time he came up in the game, won by the Braves, 4-2, Ditmar clipped him.

Logan Not Mad

"I wasn't mad," said Logan, "I was happy to get on base."

Commented Aaron: "It didn't bother me. I don't know if it was intentional or not. I don't know Ditmar that well."

Braves' catcher Del Crandall also had to hit the dirt in the seventh, and that brought Conlan to the mound.

"I don't think he threw at me, said Crandall. "If he did that's part of baseball."

Lou Burdette, for his part, didn't hide the fact that he was ready to trade beaners with Ditmar.

"I guess it looked like a knock-down party was starting," he said, referring to the fact that he sent Gerry Coleman into the dirt in the fifth. "If something like that happens I guess they should know we are as good at it as they are."

Fights Last Night

MILWAUKEE — The red carpet was rolled out and thousands of cheering fans turned out last night as the Milwaukee Braves returned home from New York to prepare for the first World Series game ever played here.

The Braves returned to the faithful a few hours after defeating the Yankees 4-2 to square the series at one game each. The third will be played tomorrow at Milwaukee County Stadium.

It was a cool night and a stiff cold wind whipped across Bill Mitchell Airport as the Braves chartered airliner landed. But the cheers of 6,500 happy fans warmed things up quickly as the plane pulled down.

One of the first to alight was manager Fred Haney, who blinked in the glare of spotlights that lighted the ramp, waved to the crowd and declared:

"We hope to wrap it up here. From the plane the players took a red carpet, rolled out by airport attendants, to a line of 30 convertible buses waiting to take them to the stadium."

As the motorcade moved the 10 miles to the stadium, tens of thousands of men, women and children lined the sidewalks waving pennants, ringing cow bells, shouting greetings and good wishes and sounding automobile horns.

And at the stadium thousands more waited to salute their heroes.

Ellenville Booters Trim Middies, 5-2

Peters Does All Blue Devil Scoring

Center forward Dick Peters scored all of Ellenville Central's goals as the Blue Devils trimmed Middletown, 5-2, yesterday at the mid-city in the DUSO Soccer League.

Peters whipped home two goals and one penalty kick as Coach Ron Anderson's booters captured their first contest of the season. Ellenville had previously lost to Fallsburgh and twice to Otisville outside the loop.

Ellenville piled up a 5-0 margin before Middletown reserve Don Craft tallied at 2:50 of the final period. The setback was the first for the Middies who were tied in their other league engagement.

Peters, who is a senior and captain of the team, drove home a penalty kick past goalie Tom Clarke at 4:00 of the first period.

In the second quarter, he scored at 2:40 on an assist from Larry Gray. Peters came back a couple of minutes later, at 4:47, to net the final marker, this time being assisted by Sam Painter.

Anderson shook up his lineup and it paid rich dividends. He benched both his regular full-backs and inserted Walt Edwards and Dan Gorman, a freshman and sophomore, respectively. He also gave half-back Bob Eck, a sophomore, a starting chance.

'Edwards and Gorman made the difference', Anderson said. 'They gave goalie Ben Davis good protection. Eck also looked good.'

Davis was called on to make just six saves. Clarke was credited with five.

Blue Devils face Monticello Thursday in their next outing.

Campbell Ready For Record Try

SYRACUSE (P)—Donald Campbell hopes to make an assault on his water speed record of 225.63 miles an hour tomorrow or Saturday on Onondaga Lake.

The Britisher took his jet-powered Bluebird II out for a trial run on the lake yesterday but choppy waters forced postponement of the record attempt.

Campbell has a permit from the State Public Works Department to make three record tries on the lake between Oct. 2 and 12.

At a news conference last night, Campbell said that if he should set a record over the weekend it would be recognized by the Union of International Motorboats but not by the American Powerboat Assn.

He explained that no member of the American group's race commission was available to observe the test and that this was a necessary condition for recognition by the AA. However, the AA will provide the official timers and will process their reports for the international group.

STARTING BACKFIELD—Kingston High faces New York Military Academy at Cornwall-on-Hudson Saturday at 2:15 p. m. and will have in its starting backfield, l-r, Tony Uhl, Ted

Maroons in Tight Fit, 20-14, Predicts Hoople

EGAD! My peerless prognostications have been received with a pean of plaudits from all the planets. Modesty forbids my quoting these communications of acclamation for my great pigskin perception.

It is impossible for your versatile correspondent to be reconciled with anything but perfection. Therefore he has had to dismiss his chief astronomer, Dr. Vladimir McGrath, who specializes in neuro-pigskin predictions gone awry. I have replaced him with the learned Romney Schultz Jr., who specializes in contact sports, i.e., football and postoffice.

My new astronomer's first finding is rendered with great trepidation. He foresees Coach Bill Burke's behemoths upending New York Military Academy, 20-14, a lone touchdown margin, admittedly, but the pundits' pulse indicates the possibility that if the Maroon are to be upset, the grey-clad cadets would be the most likely choice.

Krebs Named To All-Stars

Jim Krebs, 6-8 center from Southern Methodist University, today was named to the College All-Star squad that will meet the New York Knickerbockers in the feature game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader Saturday night, Oct. 19.

Krebs joins such outstanding college stars as Charlie Tyra, Win Wilfont, Dick Duckett, Gerry Paulson, Lemmie Rosenbluth, Rod Hundley and Chet Forte on Coach Frank McGuire's team. The game is the sixth annual such affair.

Krebs, the first draft choice of the Minneapolis Lakers, is an All-American who averaged 24 points per game last season for the Mustangs. He was considered by his coach, E. O. (Doc) Hayes, "as fine an all-around player as I have ever seen."

Krebs is 21, weighs 225 and was the principal reason why SMU won three straight Southwest Conference championships.

The Free Milk Fund for Babies will share in the proceeds of the doubleheader. In the opening contest, the Harlem Globetrotters engage the Washington Generals.

Cassin Hanover Wins for Egan

LEXINGTON, Ky. (P)—The 1957 fight for 3-year-old trotting honors was wide open today in the wake of Cassin Hanover's "sentimental journey" to victory in the $50,460 Kentucky Futurity.

Cassin, winner only once before in 17 starts, responded to the urging of Fred Egan in the final eighth of the last dash of a rare four-heat race yesterday to make Egan's 78th birthday perfect.

The Lexington Trotts crowd of about 5,000 gave Cassin and her driver a standing ovation. And as Egan drove the filly owned by Mrs. Charlotte N. Sheppard, Hanover, Pa., into the winner's circle, the crowd rose and sang "Happy Birthday."

Storm Cloud, winner of the first heat, was second in the three-heat raceoff. Double Scotch, part of the S. A. Camp four-horse entry and winner of the second heat, was third.

Cassin Hanover won the third heat in 2:02 1-5 and had enough left to take the final dash in a slow 2:09 2-5. She earned $14,421. Hoot Song, winner of the Yonkers Futurity and second in the Hambletonian, which with the Classic here make up trotting's Triple Crown, finished fourth, 10th and second in the dashes.

Landowners Big Help to Hunters

ALBANY (P)—The state conservation commission says the private landowner is the best friend of the hunter.

Sharon J. Mauchs declared last night that a recent survey revealed that only 20 per cent of the small-game hunters in the state operated primarily on state land. The others hunted mostly on private land.

The commissioner told the State Conservation Council that these figures pointed out the "absolute necessity of removing the careless, destructive and law-violating hunter."

About 300 delegates are attending the council's three-day meeting, which ends tomorrow. He said that the most acute problem his department faced was the need for hunting land. Last year, he said, 993,000 hunting licenses were issued in the state, five times the number issued in 1940.

Mauchs said the department was striving to acquire more land for the forest preserve. He said that 46 parcels totaling almost 63,000 acres had been added in the last year and that he would ask the 1958 Legislature to double the 1957 appropriation of $100,000 for land purchase.

Jockey Willie Hartack won the United Nations turf race at Atlantic City in 1954 with Closed Door and in 1956 with Blue Choir.

Mrs. Leah Marie Atkins of Birmingham, Ala., won the 1957 national women's ski championship. She was first in the slalom and trick events and finished seventh in jumping.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE

Fishing Editor

More than 15 years ago, I applied for a job with one of the state conservation departments.

After taking a competitive civil service exam, I was offered several positions.

The uniform salary for a fisheries research technician then proved to be enough to buy groceries and see a movie on Saturday night. Provided you didn't have to work on Saturday night. I sought my livelihood elsewhere. The shocking thing to me is that salaries for professional men today are comparatively no better than the livable wage of two decades back.

Fishing is our nation's leading sport. It's an annual business of two billions, yet according to the guardian Sport Fishing Institute in Washington, D. C., there are only a few hundred professionally trained biologists now at work. They are to anglers what the doctor is to public health, or the engineer to highway construction. They are responsible for diagnosing and repairing the resources without which you would have no fishing. Recent figures show that the average salary paid to fisheries biologists is $4,900 a year. All of these men have had six years in college or longer, and from five to 10 years of practical field work. As a result, more and more biologists are shifting to high paying industrial jobs, and fewer undergraduates are replacing them.

The situation is serious. It means skeleton staffs and a declining interest in professional conservation. It means that the quality of future personnel will ultimately reach the bottom of the barrel. If angling is a $2 billion industry — it's about time some of the money was put back into management.

Syracuse University football teams have produced eight first-team All-America performers.

Wiltwyck Ladies Day Scheduled Oct. 9

The final Ladies' Day of the Wiltwyck Country Club season is scheduled for next Wednesday, Oct. 9.

There will be a nine-hole medal play tournament as well as special contests. Lunch will be served and all ladies planning to attend are asked to sign up in the locker room at the club.

Bill Voiselle had a 10-21 record with Jersey City in 1943 until in 1944 he won 21 games for the New York Giants.

Top punt return man in Syracuse University history is Dick Banger. In 1939 and 1940 he returned a total of 38 punts.

Business Solicitation Starts Next Week in Chest Campaign

Plans for this year's Kingston Area Community Chest drive for $118,500 were completed at a meeting of division heads Thursday afternoon at Community Chest headquarters in the YWCA building.

The public portion of the campaign to assist 10 agencies will be in full swing next week when approximately 150 members of Kingston's three service clubs — Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions — and the Junior Chamber of Commerce begin solicitation of more than 600 commercial and business establishments in the area.

Neighborhoods Next
This will be followed by the Neighborhood solicitation the following week, when some 350 to 400 volunteer campaigners will visit their neighbors in the city, town of Ulster and parts of Esopus and Hurley to ask them to join the Kingston Area Community Chest. Persons willing to volunteer for this work may do so by calling the Chest office, after Sunday and giving their name, address and the ward or town in which they desire to work.

Meanwhile, groundwork has already been laid for solicitation of corporate gifts and employee contributions in the area's industrial plants, larger commercial establishments, and individual contributions from professional and self-employed persons. This solicitation is taking place now and should be completed by October 11.

Leaders of Drive
Campaign leadership includes the following: Frank E. Bourke, general chairman; Mrs. John B. Glennon, administrative assistant; N. LeVan Haver, advance gift chairman; C. S. Rowland Jr., industry chairman; George Svirsky, commercial division chairman; Sam S. Pepper, professional division chairman; John Ray Mayone, government division chairman; Peter J. Kowalenko, neighborhood division chairman; W. Henry Hal-termann, promotion director; Harold E. Keator Jr., business sponsor chairman.

The drive combines the following 10 annual appeals: Associated Children, Kingston Boys' Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, USO, Volunteers of America, YMCA and YWCA.

Lee, Haggerty Oppose Hoffa as Teamsters Ballot

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Voting began today for a new president of the giant Teamsters Union with James R. Hoffa opposed by two "cleanup" opponents for the job.

Hoffa, charged with union corruption by the AFL-CIO and Senate rackets committee was opposed in the convention rollcall by president William A. Lee and Thomas J. Haggerty, both of Chicago.

May Last Hours

The rollcall was expected to last several hours.

Hoffa's name was put in nomination by John English, veteran union secretary treasurer, who called Hoffa "the champion of the Teamsters."

English said the convention met at a crucial time for the union—with agents, he said, of the FBI, Senate rackets committee and the AFL-CIO keeping tabs on what goes on.

English said Hoffa had done more for the Teamsters than anyone else in union history and although the union faces "a little trouble here and there, he'll take care of that."

"Now is the time to show Jimmy our appreciation," English said.

Haggerty was nominated by Peter J. Hoban, Chicago. Hoban declared his man always puts principle ahead of money. He said the union today stands before the court of public opinion and all organized labor wants Hoffa defeated.

No Dictatorship

Thomas J. Mahoney, Chicago, nominated Lee. With Lee as president, Mahoney said, the union's present scandals will be cleared away "and this union can again hold its head high."

He said under Lee there would be no dictatorship and local unions could operate autonomously. Lee's nomination was seconded by Frank W. Brewster, Seattle.

Boy of Month Competition Set by YMCA

Kingston YMCA physical department announces that starting this week all boy members, 16 years of age and under will be eligible to participate in the "Y" "Boy of the Month" contest.

The program started last Saturday with 58 boys attending the opening of events. Only 25 boys could finish the course in the allotted time. Since that time 22 other boys have made inquiries and they along with the other 33 boys will compete for honors this Saturday at 9 o'clock.

Obstacle Course

The "Boy of the Month" contest is actually an obstacle course arranged on the "Y" gym floor. Each month will see one of the three classes of boys try to win. In September and December the prep division, 8 to 10 years of age will compete. The cadets 11 to 13 years old compete in October and January, the junior class in November and February.

The contests are held on the last Saturday of every month and the public is invited. The boy with the fastest time plus perfection is declared the winner. All winners will receive trophies at the Father and Son Banquet in the spring.

Physical Director Richard Case invites anyone interested in his boy's physical fitness to contact him at the "Y."

Texas boasts more counties than any other state. But, California, Arizona and Nevada all have more larger individual counties.

It has been said that nobody ever wins a war. The War of 1812, in which the United States declared war on Great Britain, in the interests of its sailors and shipping, is an illustration. Neither a single aim nor an inch of territory was gained by either side. Stranger, the greatest victory of the United States, the slaughter of the British in the battle of New Orleans on Jan. 8, 1815, took place 15 days after peace was made and the war officially ended.

Hard California Campaign Looms For Governorship

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight were committed today to a bitter fight to the finish to their contest for the Republican nomination for governor.

"The die is cast," said Knowland.

"This will be no panty waist campaign," said Knight.

The two rivals, who with Vice President Nixon represent California's Republican Big 3, quickly clashed after Knowland announced his candidacy for governor yesterday.

Knight seized on Knowland's statement and news conference comment, which avoided an absolute pledge to stay out of the 1960 presidential race.

The 61-year-old governor called on the Senate minority leader for an "honest, straight forward declaration of intent."

Knowland, 49, did not mention the presidential issue in his reply but said that if he won the $40,000-a-year job, "I shall enter into the great office with no commitments other than the ones I make publicly."

Asked by newsmen whether he expected to seek the Republican presidential nomination, he said "no one has a crystal ball as to 1960 or to 1964."

Says Small Firms Hurt by Tax Bite

SYRACUSE (AP)—An industry spokesman says the federal income tax law is the main reason that small business is swallowing up little businesses at such a rapid rate.

Joseph R. Shaw, president of Associated Industries of New York State Inc., asserted yesterday that small business men were less able than their larger competitors to meet some demands of government and labor unions.

Shaw, addressing the State Small Business Council, called for simplification of tax laws and tax reduction.

From Kings County, New York, recently came a report of a jury selection system by which jurors are given an opportunity to select their own time for sitting on jury duty.

"The Kings County idea will be interesting to watch," states an editorial on the plan.

The plan can be studied in Ulster County where it has been in effect since 1955. County Commissioner of Jurors Edwin W. Ashby counters.

Name Recalled

Since July 1, 1955, prospective jurors have been asked in a questionnaire sent out by the commissioner of jurors, what two months they would prefer to serve in. When the name of a juror is drawn and there has been an expression of preference, that name is placed in a sealed envelope bearing the month during which that juror prefers to serve and when a jury is drawn for court in that month, the name is selected.

"A good percentage of jurors express a preference of time," Commissioner Ashby said.

This system provides a higher percentage of jurors willing to serve at any given term and creates the least possible inconvenience to those called. In the event a name is drawn and no preference has been expressed, and if the juror cannot serve for some good reason he or she is asked what month would be most convenient to serve and the name is deferred to that month and the juror recalled.

Less Inconvenience

"This system was devised when a change in the law made it possible and it is being used today to make it easier for jurors to serve. It makes for less inconvenience to those engaged in business and also for rural people," Ashby said. By the system farmers are not drawn in their busy season when it would be a hardship for them to serve.

"I am glad to see metropolitan New York is catching up with us rural up-state counties, and are considering the plan which we have been using for two years," Ashby said.

Two Men Seized In Dimes Theft From Car Meters

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men were seized last night in connection with parking meter thefts that police said totaled $150,000 worth of dimes.

Arrested were Giuseppe A. D'Orto, 37, of Manhattan, a merchant seaman; and Richard R. Bianculli, 26, of Queens Village.

Charged with grand larceny and possession of burglar tools, they were accused specifically of stealing 3,000 dimes from Third Avenue parking meters. They were picked up on the avenue near 58th Street by three detectives—one dressed as a grocery delivery clerk, another posing as a panhandler, a third walking a dog.

Bianculli was described as a former dispatcher for the Broadway Maintenance Corp. which services meters. When the detectives closed in, police said, Bianculli possessed a meter key and $300 in dimes.

Authorities said Bianculli and his wife, Mary, both are free in bail on grand larceny charges. They were arrested last Jan. 29 when 102 coin boxes from parking meters were found in their car.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — What does an actor notice when he regains his sight after seven years?

Colors, mostly—"everything is so full of color—the cars, the buildings, the furniture."

Also, his family ("They look wonderful"), his friends ("How old they've grown!") and himself ("Me, too!").

These are the reactions of Jason Robards, who is resuming his acting career after seven years of darkness. You'd remember his face—he was long one of Hollywood's well-known character actors. If your memory goes back farther, you'd recall him as a star in the silents and the early talkies and on stage in the long-run "Lightnin'."

Stricken in 1949

One day in 1949, he left his valley home to drive to Hollywood. His vision was blurred. He dropped by his optometrist, thinking he might need new glasses.

"Save your money," the doctor told him. "You've got cataracts."

Thus he began seven years in which he could barely discern light and shadows.

"It's not so bad being blind, as long as you know where things are," he said. "It's only when things are moved that you are in trouble."

"I learned a lot about people. You can really tell how people feel when you hear their voices and you don't see them cover up with their faces."

"I listened to radio and then to television. I learned a lot about acting, too. It amazed me to hear what actors were getting away with."

In TV Series Now

In January this year, Roberts underwent an operation to remove the cataracts. His first vision: His doctor's sports coat.

"It was awful and I told him so," Roberts smiled. "Every thing I saw was color. The cars used to be simple, dull colors. Now they're bright and gay and two-toned."

Now he's back playing in the Warner Brothers' "Sugar Foot" TV series. And he expects to resume his career with new vision and perception.

Drive-In Freeloaders

LOGAN, W. Va., (AP)—Sneaking into drive-in motion picture theaters in the trunks of cars has become so prevalent that some theater operators have hired extra help to check cars as they park. Magistrate Robert D. Skaggs reported he had heard of 40 such cases in recent months.

Each team will include a hospital medical director, surgeons and physicians, director of nurses, hospital administrator, pharmacist, X-ray technicians and an electrician. Each team will form the core of a staff of 220 persons which will be able to operate a 200-bed hospital on an around-the-clock basis.

The Office of Medical Defense is making available mobile units to various local Civil Defense organizations for two-day periods of training. State Health Department personnel will accompany each unit.

Each mobile hospital unit includes supplies necessary to equip a 200-bed improvised emergency hospital and keep it in operation for 10 days. A total of 200 units are being placed at strategic locations throughout the state. Two units will be in action between now and Christmas to train teams at 19 points in upstate New York.

Commissioner Hilleboe, who serves also as State Chief Medical Officer for Civil Defense, said that the training is designed to teach people how to create a functioning hospital in case of emergency. "These teams will learn how to put men and supplies to work quickly and effectively and to sort casualties in order that medical help may be given each injured person as fast as possible."

Obtain Vital Supplies
Dr. Hilleboe added that the teams will learn how to obtain such items from a community as food, blood, oxygen and gasoline, which cannot be stockpiled with the mobile hospital units.

Teams from the following Civil Defense jurisdictions will be trained between now and Christmas: Jamestown, Mt. Vernon, White Plains, Dunkirk and the following counties — Chautauque, Jefferson, Livingston, Westchester, Monroe, Cayuga, Genesee, Erie (two teams), Sullivan, Chemung, Allegheny, Broome and Onondaga. In addition a team will be trained at the Middletown State Hospital.

Quality Central Society Meeting

Fifty-six members and guests of the Mid-Hudson Section of The American Society for Quality Control met this week at Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck. Gerald Overbaugh of IBM in Kingston introduced the main speaker, A. U. Sternlof from the U. S. Steel Corporation. Mr. Sternlof, who is supervisor of Quality Control Electrical Cable Works, discussed "Quality Control in the Wire Business." He explained the basic problems in making wire cable (as much as seven miles long without any splices) were controlling the overall diameter and minimum wall thickness. By concentrating on the minimum wall and allowing the overall diameter to gradually increase, Q. C. managed to substantially reduce customer complaints. Analysis found the standard wire conductor was always made over tolerance. After adoption of Q. C., a savings of four per cent in copper alone was realized in the manufacture of standard wire.

Those attending from the Kingston area were: Paul Bassett, Armand Bosse, Stuart Buchanan, John Burch, Salvatore Celentano, Lloyd Collins, Brad Dewey Jr., Warren Eckels, William Hauck, Paul Heitz, Clement Heitzman, Charles Horne, Richard Hulnick, Thomas Keiser Jr., Louis LaConte, Vincent Malito, Verner May, Joseph McNelis, Harry Mirick, Kenneth Nickel, Gerald Overbaugh, William Paulding, James Penrose, Sidney Price, Henry Schuster, Edwin Secor, Paul Smith, S. Soonsavian, Wallace Stone, Otto Weenier Jr.

DAR Urged to Check 'Smut' Sold at Stands

LAKE PLACID (AP)—Members of the state organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution were urged last night to "check your newsstands." See what is being sold by the peddlers of smut.

James Fitzpatrick, counsel to the Joint State Legislative Committee on Obscene Publications, spoke at the group's 61st annual convention. The former assemblyman from Plattsburgh said that modern children were becoming hardened to such literature "just as a baseball player develops callouses from constant play."

Snow, Frigid Weather Hit Northwest U. S.

By The Associated Press
Winty weather spread across northwestern sections of the nation today with snowfall up to five inches and temperatures in the 20s.

More rain and cloudy weather was the dreary picture in the southeast but it was generally fair in most of the central and north-eastern sections of the country.

An intense storm centered near Yellowstone Park in northwest Wyoming generated strong, cold winds that swept across wide areas from the great plains to the Pacific coast. Fresh falls of snow during the night brought a five-inch carpet of white at Mullen Pass near the Montana-Idaho border. Snow measured three inches at Drummond, Mont.

Former Tito Aide On Trial Again As Soviet Critic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Milovan Djilas, once president Tito's close associate, went on trial today for the third time for criticizing communism. He defiantly said he stood by every word. Djilas' offense this time was writing a book, published in the United States, which said that communism as well as capitalism created an elite class.

"I stick to my book from its first to its last word," Tito's former vice president, wartime comrade and biographer told the district court at Sremska Mitrovica, a town 50 miles north of Belgrade. The defendant was sunburned, well dressed and looked healthy. Western and communist newsmen were ordered out of the court after the reading of the indictment, although Djilas said he would answer no questions if the newsmen were ejected.

Djilas is serving a three-year sentence for other writings critical of present communism. He was convicted last Dec. 12. Djilas' latest charge against communism as it has worked out was made in his book "The New Class," published this year in New York by Frederick A. Praeger. The manuscript was smuggled from Sremska Mitrovica prison. The prosecutor says the book is designed to harm the reputation of Yugoslavia and undermine the country's communist system. This is a criminal act under the Yugoslav penal code, the prosecutor said. The maximum sentence is 20 years.

Pole to Pole Hop to Honor Admiral Byrd

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for a round-the-world air flight crossing both south and north poles, and named in honor of the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd, were announced today.

It would be the first such crossing of the bottom and top of the world in a continuous series of hops, said Cmdr. Frederick G. Dustin, an Antarctic veteran and close friend of Byrd's. Byrd had flown over both poles in separate expeditions.

Dustin said the flight, financed by a group of businessmen, is scheduled to leave Boston about Nov. 10.

One leg would take the crew and sponsors on a never-before attempted flight from Punta Arenas, Chile, over the south pole to McMurdo sound in the Antarctic—a distance of nearly 3,500 miles.

Then the itinerary goes to Christchurch, N. Z., Melbourne and Darwin, Australia; Manila, Tokyo, Anchorage, Alaska and then over the north pole to Thule, Greenland. From there to London, Frankfurt, Paris and back to Boston. The flight is expected to take at least two weeks.

New Hippo Born

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A brand new hippopotamus arrived at Swoppe Park Zoo today. Cleo II gave birth unassisted.

Estimated weight of the offspring: 50 to 60 pounds.

Father hippo—Mark Antony—slept in an adjoining cage.

Boy or girl? Attendants were unable to say. They planned to wait a while before trying to examine the new arrival.
